Neutral Regime For Palestine Sought By U.N.

Push Program With Indications Some Nations To Recognize Jewish State

U. N. SEEKING TO SET UP GOVERNMENT

By PIERRE J. HUSS (U. N. Staff Correspondent)

LAKE SUCCESS, May 6.

The United Nations groped toward establishment of a neutral regime for Palestine today amid indications that some nations will recognize the Jewish state.

Russia and Guatemala, both supporters of partition, told a subcommittee meeting that the U. N. decision last November to partition Palestine is still in force and that Jews and Arabs are legally entitled to set up their own states. They opposed a Cuban move which would bind U. N. members not to recognize such states.

Meanwhile, the subcommittee on the general assembly's political committee, latest U. N. body to handle the troublesome Holy Land problem, took steps toward setting up a tentative government.

The group approved, after Russian objections, a five-point program for discussion which provides for a central administrative body and large measures of autonomy for both Jews and Arabs.

U.S. Would Fly Truce Mission To Palestine

By PIERRE J. HUSS (U. N. Staff Correspondent)

FLUSHING MEADOWS, N. Y., May 6.—(INS)—

The United States has offered to fly a United Nations Truce Commission to Palestine in President Truman's plane to halt the Holy Land war.

U. S. sources confirmed today that this new bid by the United States is conditioned on acceptance by the Arabs and Jews of an immediate ten-day cease fire order in all of Palestine.

The same offer asks Britain to keep general control of Palestine during the ten-day truce negotiations, although officially the mandate would be allowed to lapse on May 15.

The renewed sounding were undertaken with the Jews, Arabs and Britain at Lake Success last Tuesday.

A U. S. spokesman described the renewed effort as a continuation of the various endeavors now under way to get a truce in the Holy Land.

The United States offer proposed that once the 10-day cease-fire order has been agreed to, then the Security Council would be asked promptly to appoint a truce commission to fly to the spot.

Rail Strike Would Quickly Affect Cities' Meat Supply

WASHINGTON, May 6.—(INS)—Agriculture Department officials said today that some of the nation's major cities will be out of meat within a week if the rail strike threat is carried out.

The officials pointed out that none of the large eastern cities with the possible exception of New York, has cold storage facilities of any consequence. The same is true of the West Coast and the South.

Although stocks of meat in storage are at a near record for this time of year, large storage plants are located for the most part near midwestern packing houses.

The agriculture officials said "a very high percentage of fresh and processed meats normally moves by rail over long distances," adding "A lot of cities, certainly here in the east, would find themselves out of meat pretty quickly."

Uniform Marriage And Divorce Laws Are Urged

WASHINGTON, May 6.—(INS)—An American Bar Association panel recommended today that the filing of divorce actions be permitted only with prior consent of a court and urged adoption of uniform marriage and divorce laws.

In a report to the national conference on family life, the panel suggested appointment of a presidential commission to reexamine marriage and divorce laws.

The group condemned the practice of hearing divorce suits after establishment of legal residence instead of at the place where the divorcing couple has made its home during the course of the marriage.

The recommendations were reported to the conference by Judge Paul W. Alexander of the Toledo, Ohio, Domestic Relations and Juvenile courts.

The Bar Association panel, acting as the legal section of the conference, recommended that a set of courts parallel to juvenile tribunals be set up for divorce actions because "the spouses often behave exactly like juvenile delinquents and for much the same reasons."

Noting that divorce "is commonly regarded as the greatest sin," (Continued on Page Two)

As a result, and in view of the emergence of strong opposition to the resolutions among committee members, it is anticipated that the group will approve a resolution drawn up in cooperation with the state department.

You think you're in shape because you play golf, and you boast of your fine edge condition, but hold on a while before you pop off, and you're placed in a silly position. If you think you're in shape as my heavy friend did, and your fitness you still want to show, just look up a friend who is pouring cement and help him a bit with a hoe. No special grip needed, no open toeed dance, grab a hoe and then fire away, next morning you'll know what condition you're in, it's seven-nine today.

PLAN FURTHER MOVE IN EFFORT TO AVERT STRIKE

Engineers, firemen and switchmen. In the 1946 dispute involving the engineers and trainmen, Steelman obtained an agreement to end a 48-hour walkout just as President Truman appeared before Congress to ask authority to draft the strikers into the army.

The government look over the railroad two years ago and stands ready to seize them again if a resumption of negotiations offers no prospect of a settlement.

Deadlocked For Months
The carriers and the unions have been deadlocked for many months over the "brotherhood's" demands for a minimum wage dollars a day pay boost and changes in working rules.

The railroads have offered a 15 1/2 cent hourly increase or $1.24 a day but this figure was rejected by the unions despite the fact that it also was recommended by a presidential fact-finding board in March.

When last minute mediation effort of Frank Douglas, chairman of the national railway mediation board, failed to bring a settlement in Chicago, the controversy was turned over to the White House for action.

Prepare For Strike
Meantime, the carriers are going ahead with preparations for a strike. The Missouri Pacific Railroad announced a partial freight embargo and similar action is expected from other lines.

The Missouri Pacific said it will not accept shipments of perishables, poultry or livestock after 3 a. m. next Friday. The strike is scheduled for 6 a. m. next Tuesday.

At the same time, Ernest E. Norris, president of the Southern Railway system, notified all employees that the Southern will shut down completely in event of a work stoppage by the three operating brotherhoods.

The Baltimore & Ohio, the Pennsylvania, The Southern, The Atlantic Coast Line, and the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroads announced that operations of all departments will cease if the strike takes place next Tuesday. This is contrary to the practice in previous strikes.

This action was made known by the railroads in public announcements and in letters to employees.

Locomotive Engineers and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers with "overriding" the findings of a Presidential Fact-Finding Board.

The brotherhoods, Clement charged, are attempting to enforce their demands "by a disastrous strike."

"This strike," he declared, "would paralyze the nation. It would deprive all the people of essential services. Not only would it throw railroad employees out of work but, in a short time, would result in laying off millions of other people in jobs of all kinds."

Clement said the railroads still are prepared to accept the decision of the Presidential Fact-Finding Board.

Its recommendations were in line with this theory of "improving" divorce procedures. In passing, it castigated present procedures as "rotten" and of "ineffable ineptitude."

It pointed out that well over 90 per cent of all divorce cases are uncontested and condemned the present system of preserving the form of "contentious litigation" in these actions.

The government took over the railroads two years ago and stands ready to seize them again if a resumption of negotiations offers no prospect of a settlement.

Deadlocked For Months
The carriers and the unions have been deadlocked for many months over the brotherhoods' demands for a minimum three dollars a day pay boost and changes in working rules.

The railroads have offered a 15 1/2 cent hourly increase or $1.24 a day but this figure was rejected by the unions despite the fact that it also was recommended by a presidential fact-finding board in March.

When last minute mediation efforts of Frank Douglas, chairman of the national railway mediation board, failed to bring a settlement in Chicago, the controversy was turned over to the White House for action.

Prepare For Strike
Meantime, the carriers are going ahead with preparations for a strike. The Missouri Pacific Railroad announced a partial freight embargo and similar action is expected from other lines.

The Missouri Pacific said it will not accept shipments of perishables, poultry or livestock after 3 a. m. next Friday. The strike is scheduled for 6 a. m. next Tuesday.

At the same time, Ernest E. Norris, president of the Southern Railway system, notified all employees that the Southern will shut down completely in event of a work stoppage by the three operating brotherhoods.

The Baltimore & Ohio, the Pennsylvania, The Southern, The Atlantic Coast Line, and the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroads announced that operations of all departments will cease if the strike takes place next Tuesday. This is contrary to the practice in previous strikes.

This action was made known by the railroads in public announcements and in letters to employees.

"This strike," he declared, "would paralyze the nation. It would deprive all the people of essential services. Not only would it throw railroad employees out of work but, in a short time, would result in laying off millions of other people in jobs of all kinds."

Clement said the railroads still are prepared to accept the decision of the Presidential Fact-Finding Board.

THE MOTHER COUNTRY

"The United States cannot dodge its responsibilities in present world affairs." Every radio receiver in the land echoes the refrain many times daily.

It would seem there is nothing wrong anywhere in the world that it is not the duty of America to correct immediately. Uncle Sam must stop the spread of communism, feed and clothe the unfortunate peoples, finance faltering governments, settle all boundary disputes and resolve all controversies with the wisdom of an international Solomon.

In short, America is to bring perfection to a world which has never known perfection, make peace possible in a world that has known little but war. In their wise beneficence the people of this land are to restore security to peoples who show little inclination for that desirable state.

All this must be done not in the next decade, but now—immediately.

From the security of their great Republic Americans must go out as evangelists, to spread sweetness and light, brotherly love and good will, to those who may or may not receive them with open arms. And as they go they must carry a purse which has no bottom.

This Americans must do, unmindful of the fact that those they are to help make no effort to help themselves.

In its relations to the world in general the United States occupies a position similar to that of the mother of a large family, every member of which looks to her for help. The United States is becoming, in fact, the mother country, with so many tugging at its skirts that in its dilemma it often does not know which way to turn.

SEEMED LIKE GOOD IDEA

If there are any unemployed inventors in the land, they ought to get busy. What this world needs perhaps more than anything else is a sound, unclouded crystal ball through which one could peer into the future. Perhaps there would be fewer headaches.

Look at some recent history through the clairvoyant glasses of hindsight. Just three years ago American and Russian forces made contact in Germany. American troops were ordered to halt at the Elbe and the Russians took Berlin, one of the world's current key trouble spots.

The previous October, the Inter-Allied Commission in London fixed the German occupation boundaries. There were some versions in this country who thought a good bargain had been arranged. They regarded it as sound to stop at the Elbe because to occupy additional territory was not thought to be desirable.

Also, it was a good place to avoid clashes with friendly forces and the pursuit of enemy armies on the right flank was still important.

A few voices were raised in dissent. What they said was that U. S. forces should smash ahead, take Berlin and Prague and establish a firm bargaining position. But to oppose Russia then was regarded as a form of fascism. A crystal ball, through which everyone might have gazed and seen what was ahead was not available.

ELECTORAL REVISION PROPOSED

An ever-present danger that a President may be elected even though he has less than a majority of the popular vote seems to furnish a compelling reason for passage of a Constitutional amendment to abolish the Electoral College.

This device was conceived originally to place the choice of a President in the hands of a small group of leading citizens, exercising their own judgment regardless of the preference of the large body of voters. It is a tribute to the strength of the democratic feeling in America that the Electoral College soon became simply a means of reflecting the will of the voters.

But the present system of casting all the electoral votes of one State in a bloc still makes it possible for a minority President to be chosen. That has happened twice—in 1876 and 1888—and it could happen again in a close election.

The action of the Senate Judiciary Committee in reporting out a Constitutional amendment to change that system is welcome. Under this proposal, electoral votes of each State would be counted for the candidates in proportion to the popular votes they received.

Since a House committee already has approved this legislation, it is now up to Congress to pass it and send it out to the States for ratification. As a necessary reform to our political system, the amendment should be adopted.

British motorists now allowed 90 miles of pleasure driving per month. A lot more than we get.

New styles in men's hats, modeled in Hollywood, call for zip, dash and humor—Hollywood style.

Soon the graduates will collide with the proposition that saving the world in these times is a man-size job.

Russians now claim they invented the airplane twenty-five years before the Wright Brothers were born. Robert Fulton and Eli Whitney had better begin to look to their laurels.

In View Of News Of The World

By J. C. Oestreicher, INS Foreign Director

British Foreign Secretary Bevin threw a sharp light upon the ills of the world by means of his speech drawing a definite line of demarcation between Communism and Soviet Russia.

His report to the House of Commons urged that discussions take the place of provocations was an attempt to tell the Russian people that the western democracies want to get along but are blocked by the ideological firmness of the Kremlin.

Deal With Communism

Bevin said:

"I have always felt that if we had only to deal with Russia we could settle matters. But we have to deal with Communism."

There is no question that the western allies have been impeded by the sheer, ruthless policies of Communism in attempting to iron out the difficulties between nations.

To reduce the problem to simplicities these are factors to be considered:

First, Soviet officialdom is indoctrinated "by the book"—that is the Communist manifesto of Karl Marx, the dictates of Lenin, and Stalin's own embellishments and modernizations.

Second, Russians in both high and subordinate posts have a definite fear complex. Their jobs and their lives are at the mercy of the politburo in the Kremlin.

Where officials of other countries can temporize and compromise, the Soviet negotiator must Jew exactly to the line laid down or face possibly mortal consequences.

Third, fundamental Communist policies were not framed to meet the emergencies of a given moment but to cover a long-range plan.

Any serious alteration of the schedule means a mighty convulsion in a bureaucracy built on bedrock.

Rigidity Of Policies

The rigidity of Communist policies is emphasized at the present because of the fact that this is a presidential year in the United States and Britain faces a general election in 1950.

Stalin, like Adolf Hitler, always has considered governments that are at the mercy of free balloting to be unstable and insecure, completely overlooking the fundamen-

THE PARENT PROBLEM

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

EDUCATION SHOULD STIMULATE IMAGINATION

Good education of the child at two, eight or 20 stimulates his imagination.

He may not get much of this stimulation if he gets it from the movies, from the comics and from the radio. Yet we parents and teachers have good reasons to be worried over the content around which the child's imagination is stimulated by some of the movies on the screen and by still more of the program on the air.

Perhaps one big reason why the good programs on the air are so alluring to children is because of stirring imagination, there being so little appeal to such school books, especially in school readers.

Supplementary Readers

Except for a few supplementary readers for the grades appearing in recent years, school readers are limited chiefly to the here-and-now and factual. Few books school readers give wide wings to the child's imagination. When they do these wings may have only pin feathers on them.

Most authors and publishers of readers for school children seem to put their faith in the mechanics of vocabulary and colorful pictures around very common-place everyday experiences of the child. They are usually drawn for emotional color. Not many children would spontaneously dramatize from their pages.

Many nursery school and kindergarten leaders bitten by the bug of here-and-now seem to be slowly giving some place to the imagination. Yet most of the books available for them with young children are short on the fanciful.

So also with the books from which parents may read to the baby and young child. (My selected list of books for this purpose may be had in a stamped envelope.) Yet there is a gradual shift, even by publishers of children's books, toward some dwarfs and fairies. Magazines for young children are stepping out with added emphasis on the fanciful for young children.

For Young Children

Mrs. Myers and I always did believe in fairy tales for young children. When our children were very young we purposely read them folk lore and other fanciful materials. Just at the time when educational leaders for young children were beginning to infiltrate among the friends of fairyland with their "totalitarian" declivities.

According to these subtle propagandists, our children were supposed to grow up as escapist from reality. But one is now a professor of plant physiology, another is an aeronautical engineer, and the third became a home economist. Now mothers of three real youngsters of her own.

If, as I have done, you will look into the biographies of the great and useful men and women of the world over the last few hundred years you will find that most of them had their imagination fired during infancy and childhood. Indeed, I can think of no better grounds for using happy living than early exposure to "fairy tales," provided the child plays freely with other children of his age and has lots of fun making things with his hands. "Now Come The Fairies" may be had in a stamped envelope by writing me at 235 East 45th Street, New York, N. Y.

Looking At Life

By Erich Brandeis

"I've washed dishes for the first time in my life," she said, with just a flash of pride in her hazel eyes, "look."

"On her fingers were blisters and two cuts."

"This is from a newspaper story which told about the mysterious disappearance of a beautiful $750 a week nightclub singer in Hollywood and her discovery as a servant in the home—probably by accident—of a theatrical producer's family."

When found she assured reporters and photographers that the whole thing was positively, and cross-my-heart-hope-to-die, not a publicity stunt.

She was just fired of being a glamorous girl, she said, and she wanted to get away from all the adulation of being a $750-a-week attraction.

Of course you all believe that this wasn't a publicity stunt, just as you believe that when Mae West's room is once again invaded and all the jewelry stolen (twice) is out, of course, it is not a publicity stunt.

But the thing that gripped me with all its social significance is that this poor girl, who admitted that she was the daughter of a wealthy South American woman, had to lower herself to such an indignity as washing dishes!

Well, my own wife, whose father wasn't exactly a pauper either, washes dishes three times a day. And probably 90 per cent of all the wives, sisters, mothers, grandmothers, nieces and aunts in this country wash dishes just as much. Do they show you their blisters and cuts "with just a flash of pride in their hazel eyes" and say "Look!"

If they did, it probably wouldn't do them much good.

The males of their families would give their little pinkies just a cursory glance and say "Why aren't you more careful?"

Furthermore I can't quite see why, from washing dishes, a woman should have cuts on her fingers, unless she has broken some china or glasses, in which case, instead of getting sympathy, she would probably get a good bawling out and deserve it.

That story about the disappearing lady reminds me of that other one which periodically appears in newspapers in various cities.

A married man somehow or other gets into the apartment of a beautiful blonde and then is robbed of his watch and diamond ring, and of his wallet containing several hundred dollars and the picture of his dear wife and baby.

He usually tells the police that he went up to the apartment to look at some etchings the lady had to sell—and then everything went dark and he doesn't know what happened.

We used to sing a song: "Of course, you know that may be so, but then it sounds blamed queer, of course you know that may be so, but the d— thing don't go here."

(Copyright, 1948, by King Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

(By Marquis Childs)

Hard To Remember Past

WASHINGTON, May 6.—In this era of flood-tide prosperity, it is hard to remember the past. Perhaps that is because so much has happened in the crowded years between 1938 and 1948.

From 10,000,000 unemployed to 60,000,000 jobs. That is the jump in a single decade—the decade that saw America's productive capacity nearly doubled in order to win a global war.

In the new era, the new deal of the '30s is customarily referred to in sulphurous language. The phrase is uttered as though it had been the slogan of the devil himself. And you can find stout-hearted members of the Union League club who will prove just that.

The young who have come of age in the war decade must have an odd impression of that dim and distant day. Their more vociferous underpinnings so that they could buy the products of industry. The idyllic sent his cohorts about the country to clap decent citizens into jail. The chaotic battle and the ghost of Roosevelt is something to scare babies with.

Slightly Distorted

That picture is slightly distorted. It happens, of course, that the distortion is useful to those who would chip away the reforms of the new day. They are hard at work with their little pickaxes on one stratum in particular right now.

But before going into that, I would like to put down one point.

One Man's Opinion

The report that Hitler's jaw has turned up in Russia has been received with some skepticism . . . How do they know it was Hitler's jaw if it wasn't wagging?

Still some of the phrases that come out of Moscow have a familiar sound.

Incidentally the Russian administration in Berlin has banned the American comedy "Three Men On A Horse." It sounded like capitalist efficiency.

I don't know what they've done about "Voice Of The Turtle." They're not partial to any voice that doesn't originate from the Kremlin.

Some American plays might get through if they are cut cautiously to the pattern . . . The Soviet boys might go for "A Drosky Named Odessa." "Look Joe, I'm Revolting," or "Make Mine Minsk."

Anent Turner-Topping Event

By PAUL GALLICO

As a distant, but interested observer to whom romance is the very breath of life I am still completely in the thrall of certain aspects of the Lana Turner-Bob Topping nuptials recently celebrated in the belated Bel-Air home of Mr. Billy Wilkerson, the Hollywood publisher, original discoverer of the screen star. The ceremony is some time over, but the melodies linger on.

For instance, I find myself more than a little baffled by the statement of the Rev. Stewart P. MacLennan, made immediately after the ceremony and which was widely quoted. Miss Alice Mosby of the United Press saw and heard him beam when it was all over—"Lana is a sweet girl. She has such a fine earthy quality in her face." The reporter for the N. Y. Daily Mirror caught it—" . . . fine earthy quality . . ."

What Did He Mean

This confuses me. It is unthinkable that Miss Turner would show up for the ceremony with a smudge on her sweet countenance, so he couldn't have meant that. But what DID he mean? Since the sky-pilot is supposed to be concerned only with considerations of the spirit, this might be interpreted either as a rather dubious compliment coming from a dabbler, or, on the other hand, as a spontaneous and genuine tribute to Miss Turner's stunning beauty which apparently succeeded in getting the Reverend's mind off his work momentarily.

So many wonderful things came out of this wedding. I learned for the first time that Lana was Mr. Wilkerson who originally discovered Miss Turner back in 1937 when she was a high school girl and he saw her for the first time at a drugstore soda fountain encased in a sweater. His practiced eye at once informed him that there was the stuff, pardon, I mean stuff of which stars are made. He secured her a screen test and the rest is history. But the really wonderful thing about all this is I understand that that very sweater is now on exhibition in the window of a downtown 5th Avenue department store. I mean to rush off at the very first opportunity and view this relic.

Less Than Tactful

I dined with great and sympathetic interest the vivid accounts of the reception feast, the glowing board, the mountains of caviar, the pheasants and hams, the clever decorations, until I came to the item of the large size statues of the bride and groom carved out of crystal clear ice which stood on the table. It struck me then, as perhaps it did you too, that considering that this was the fourth marriage for each of the love-birds, the sculptor was a little less than tactful in his choice of materials with which to delineate the happy pair. I suppose one should ignore the implication of impermanence, but it's little details like that which remain to haunt one after a great event.

Insultive too were the lines scribbled by a reporter at the reception three hours later, and I quote: "I did it," Lana squealed to a feminine friend. "I did it!"

Outcry Of Joyous Triumph

This is the kind of outcry of joyous triumph one expects from, let us say, a party who has just climbed and reached the summit of Mt. Everest for the first time. But since Mt. Topping had been scaled three times previously and whenever seen around our town always had one or more flags planted on him, one is forced to wonder just what it was that Lana did which caused her such jubilation. That little Lithuanian lalaloosa who recently conquered the Rockefeller Range and was the first and only one to do so, it seems to me really had something to yip about after the preacher-man pronounced the knot tied. At least she was a pioneer.

Leave us close on a tender note—"As the minister pronounced them man and wife, the round-faced 34-year-old Mr. Topping caught his fourth bride in his arms and murmured, 'This is forever!'" Which, as everybody knows is a long, long time.

Jobs Upon A Time

Clifton Fadiman, skilled master of the quiz program that tries to stump the experts, was born a Brooklyn son of a Russian emigrant. He started training his remarkable memory when he was five by memorizing elaborate geographic data. He put himself through Columbia university by working as office boy, clerk, teacher, librarian and mail sorter. He graduated in 1925, a Phi Beta Kappa, and taught English before joining a publishing firm where he read 10 to 15 books a week.

Motion picture singer and actress, Judy Garland, made her stage debut at three years of age singing "Jingle Bells" as a Christmas week attraction in a Grand Rapids, Mich. theater where Frank and Ethel Gumm, her parents, were appearing. Judy's name then was Frances Gumm, but George Jessel, playing the same vaudeville bill with her, had her change it. She participated in a harmony singing act with her sisters, Virginia and Suzanne.

"Gosh, salient food and swallowed your dye. I've sat in the dark with your X-ray men. And I haven't the heart to go through it again."

I've starved, and I've eaten your meal of fat.

THE MOTHER COUNTRY

"The United States cannot dodge its responsibilities in present world affairs." Every radio receiver in the land echoes the refrain many times daily.

It would seem there is nothing wrong anywhere in the world that it is not the duty of America to correct immediately. Uncle Sam must stop the spread of communism, feed and clothe the unfortunate peoples, finance faltering governments, settle all boundary disputes and resolve all controversies with the wisdom of an international Solomon.

In short, America is to bring perfection to a world which has never known perfection, make peace possible in a world that has known little but war. In their wise beneficence the people of this land are to restore security to peoples who show little inclination for that desirable state.

All this must be done not in the next decade, but now—immediately.

From the security of their great Republic Americans must go out as evangelists, to spread sweetness and light, brotherly love and good will, to those who may or may not receive them with open arms. And as they go they must carry a purse which has no bottom.

This Americans must do, unmindful of the fact that those they are to help make no effort to help themselves.

In its relations to the world in general the United States occupies a position similar to that of the mother of a large family, every member of which looks to her for help. The United States is becoming, in fact, the mother country, with so many tugging at its skirts that in its dilemma it often does not know which way to turn.

SEEMED LIKE GOOD IDEA

If there are any unemployed inventors in the land, they ought to get busy. What this world needs perhaps more than anything else is a sound, unclouded crystal ball through which one could peer into the future. Perhaps there would be fewer headaches.

Look at some recent history through the clairvoyant glasses of hindsight. Just three years ago American and Russian forces made contact in Germany. American troops were ordered to halt at the Elbe and the Russians took Berlin, one of the world's current key trouble spots.

The previous October, the Inter-Allied Commission in London fixed the German occupation boundaries. There were some versions in this country who thought a good bargain had been arranged. They regarded it as sound to stop at the Elbe because to occupy additional territory was not thought to be desirable.

Also, it was a good place to avoid clashes with friendly forces and the pursuit of enemy armies on the right flank was still important.

A few voices were raised in dissent. What they said was that U. S. forces should smash ahead, take Berlin and Prague and establish a firm bargaining position. But to oppose Russia then was regarded as a form of fascism. A crystal ball, through which everyone might have gazed and seen what was ahead was not available.

ELECTORAL REVISION PROPOSED

An ever-present danger that a President may be elected even though he has less than a majority of the popular vote seems to furnish a compelling reason for passage of a Constitutional amendment to abolish the Electoral College.

This device was conceived originally to place the choice of a President in the hands of a small group of leading citizens, exercising their own judgment regardless of the preference of the large body of voters. It is a tribute to the strength of the democratic feeling in America that the Electoral College soon became simply a means of reflecting the will of the voters.

But the present system of casting all the electoral votes of one State in a bloc still makes it possible for a minority President to be chosen. That has happened twice—in 1876 and 1888—and it could happen again in a close election.

The action of the Senate Judiciary Committee in reporting out a Constitutional amendment to change that system is welcome. Under this proposal, electoral votes of each State would be counted for the candidates in proportion to the popular votes they received.

Since a House committee already has approved this legislation, it is now up to Congress to pass it and send it out to the States for ratification. As a necessary reform to our political system, the amendment should be adopted.

British motorists now allowed 90 miles of pleasure driving per month. A lot more than we get.

New styles in men's hats, modeled in Hollywood, call for zip, dash and humor—Hollywood style.

Soon the graduates will collide with the proposition that says the world in these times is a man-size job.

Russians now claim they invented the airplane twenty-five years before the Wright Brothers were born. Robert Fulton and Eli Whitney had better begin to look to their laurels.

In View Of News Of The World

By J. C. Oestreicher, INS Foreign Director

British Foreign Secretary Bevin threw a sharp light upon the ills of the world by means of his speech drawing a definite line of demarcation between Communism and Soviet Russia.

His report to the House of Commons urging that discussions take the place of provocations was an attempt to tell the Russian people that the western democracies want to get along but are blocked by the ideological firmness of the Kremlin.

Deal With Communism

Bevin said: "I have always felt that if we had only to deal with Russia we could settle matters. But we have to deal with Communism."

There is no question that the western allies have been impeded by the sheer, ruthless politics of Communism in attempting to iron out the difficulties between nations.

To reduce the problem to simplicity these are factors to be considered:

First, Soviet officialdom is indoctrinated "by the book"—that is the Communist manifesto of Karl Marx, the dictates of Lenin, and Stalin's own embellishments and modernizations.

Definite Fear Complex

Second, Russians in both high and subordinate posts have a definite fear complex. Their jobs and their lives are at the mercy of the politburo in the Kremlin. Where officials of other countries can temporize and compromise, the Soviet negotiator must Jew exactly to the line laid down or face possibly mortal consequences.

Third, fundamental Communist policies were not framed to meet the emergencies of a given moment but to cover a long-range plan. Any serious alteration in the schedule means a mighty convulsion in a bureaucracy built on bedrock.

Rigidity Of Policies

The rigidity of Communist policies is emphasized at the present because of the fact that this is the president's year in the United States and Britain faces a general election in 1950.

Stalin, like Adolf Hitler, always has considered governments that are at the mercy of free balloting to be unstable and insecure, completely overlooking the fundamen-

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

EDUCATION SHOULD STIMULATE IMAGINATION

Good education of the child at two, eight or 20 stimulates his imagination.

He may not get much of this stimulation at school. He gets far more at the movies, from the comics and from the radio. Yet we parents and teachers have good reasons to be worried over the content around which the child's imagination is stimulated by some of the movies, by many of the comics, by many of the radio programs. Perhaps one big reason why the gory programs on the air are so alluring to children is because of the vivid imagination, there being so little appeal to such school books, especially in school readers.

Supplementary Readers. Except for a few supplementary readers for the grades appearing in recent years, school readers are limited chiefly to the here-and-now and factual. Few basic school readers give wide wings to the child's imagination. When they do these wings are often pinched by the teachers. Most authors and publishers of readers for school children seem to put their faith in the mechanics of vocabulary and colorful pictures around very commonplace everyday experiences of the child. They are usually drab for emotional color. Not many children would spontaneously dramatize from their pages.

Many nursery school and kindergarten leaders attribute the bug of here-and-now seem to be slowly giving some place to the imagination. Yet most of the books available for them with young children are short on the fanciful. So also are most new books from which parents may read to the baby and young child. My selected list of books for this purpose may be had in a stamped envelope. Yet there is a gradual shift, even by publishers of children's books, toward some dwarfs and fairies. Magazines for young children are stepping out with added emphasis on the fanciful for young children. One of them even publishes some yarns by children from two to five, dictated to the parent.

For Young Children

Mrs. Myers and I always did believe in fairy tales for young children. When our children were very young we purposely read them folk lore and other fanciful materials. Just at the time when educational philosophers opposing imaginative appeals began to infiltrate among the friends of fairyland, with their "totalitarian" doctrines.

According to these subtle propagandists, our children were supposed to grow up as escapees from reality. But now a professor of plant physiology, another is an aeronautical engineer, and the third became a home economist, now a mother of three real youngsters of her own.

If, as I have done, you will look into the biographies of the great and useful men and women of the world over the last few hundred years you will find that most of them had their imagination fired during infancy and childhood. Indeed, I can think of no better preparation for useful, happy living than early exposure to "fairy tales," provided the child plays freely with other children of his age and has lots of fun making things with his hands. "Now Come The Fairies" may be had in a stamped envelope by writing me at 235 East 45th Street New York, N. Y.

Looking At Life

By Erich Brandeis

"I've washed dishes for the first time in my life," she said, with just a flash of pride in her hazel eyes, "look."

"On her fingers were blisters and two cuts."

This is from a newspaper story which told about the mysterious disappearance of a beautiful $750 a week nightclub singer in Hollywood and her discovery as a servant in the home—probably by accident—of a theatrical producer's family.

When found she assured reporters and photographers that the whole thing was positively, and cross-my-heart-hope-to-die, not a publicity stunt.

She was just tired of being a glamour girl, she said, and she wanted to get away from all the adulation of being a $750-a-week attraction.

Of course you all believe that this wasn't a publicity stunt, just as you believe that when Mae West's room is once again invaded and all the jewelry stolen (while she is out, of course, it is not a publicity stunt).

But the thing that gripped me with all its social significance is that this poor girl, who admitted that she was the daughter of a wealthy South American woman, had to lower herself to such an indignity as washing dishes!

Well, my own wife, whose father wasn't exactly a pauper either, washes dishes three times a day.

And probably 90 per cent of all the wives, sisters, mothers, grandmothers, nieces and aunts in this country wash dishes just as much. Do they show you their blisters and cuts "with just a flash of pride in their hazel eyes" and say "Look!"

If they did, it probably wouldn't do them much good.

The males of their families would give their little pinkies just a cursory glance and say "Why aren't you more careful?"

Furthermore I can't quite see why, from washing dishes, a woman should have cuts on her fingers, unless she has broken some china or glasses, in which case, instead of getting sympathy, she would probably get a good bawling out and deserve it.

That story about the disappearing lady reminds me of that other one which periodically appears in newspapers in various cities.

A married man somehow or other gets into the apartment of a beautiful blonde and then is robbed of his watch and diamond ring, and of his wallet containing several hundred dollars and the picture of his dear wife and baby. He usually tells the police that he went up to the apartment to look at some etchings the lady had to sell—and then everything went dark and he doesn't know what happened.

We used to sing a song: "Of course, you know that may be so, but then it sounds blamed queer; of course you know that may be so, but the d— thing don't go here."

Hard in Operetta "Chonita"
In School Auditorium

The Mt. Jackson high school mixed chorus is in its final week of rehearsal for the annual operetta to be presented on Friday, May 7, in the high school auditorium. The operetta being performed is "Chonita," a gypsy operetta based on the music of Franz Liszt.

The plot centers around a gypsy tribe celebrating the eighteenth birthday of their princess "Chonita" played by Yvonne Mollenkopf. During the celebration, Stefan the minstrel of the tribe, played by Wendell Butler, declares his love for Chonita in the song "Star of Love". Murdo, the son of Chonita, played by Bruce Hixon, discovers the lovers, and is angry. He had already made other plans for Chonita.

Murdo had promised his dying wife, who had been a Hungarian noblewoman, that when Chonita became of age, he would send her to live with her mother's people to decide which life was to be hers. Chonita does not want to leave her gypsy people, but is comforted by Daya, her gypsy nurse, played by Mary Scott, who sings an old "Lullaby".

Second Act
The second act takes place in the drawing room of the Stancescu home. The Baroness, Virginia Benson, her husband, Wayne Haggis, and their son, Konrad, played by Sam Heston, are having a family discussion, when a commotion in the hall attracts their attention. Daya is enraged because she thinks Emily, the Stancescu butler, played by Jim Gibson, is trying to steal the bundle of possessions she and Chonita have brought for their stay with the Stancescus. The scene that follows is very comic.

Taken by the beautiful voice of their relative, the Stancescu entertain at a ball where Chonita is presented to society. Stefan is hired as the entertainer. Stefan hears Konrad tell Chonita she belongs in Budapest society and he realizes that he as a gypsy, has nothing to offer her. Murdo has been hurt in some manner and during his recuperation, he asks Daya to solve the mystery in the camp. Finally Chonita, Stefan and Konrad discover their paths which they are to follow.

The operetta is being coached by Miss A. Martha Matthews, dramatic coach; Mrs. Anita E. Scott, music coach; Mrs. Ruth Shunkard, costume mistress; Bob McCullough, Bill Emery, Dick Martin, Harry Witherspoon are stage crewmen; Don Hayes and Ed. McMillen, scenery; Wilda Glasgow, dancing; Wayne Haggis, business manager; Marie Dutch and Grace Haney, accompanists.

Between acts, Grace Haney and Mary Ann McKee will play some Franz Liszt piano solos. Joan Faden will play a trombone solo. "Play Gypsies" and Wilda Glasgow, Shirley Rice, Leland McCullough and Wayne Emery will sing "Golden Earrings".

voters to vote for the choice of this Party or that Party.

That is the manner in which the voters of the United States determine who is to have the power of the Presidency and it is supposed to be the rule of a pure Democracy and the people of the United States are the only people who pursue this method.

Russian Plan
In Russia, for instance, they have an election but the ballots are all printed before the election; they are all the same; they all vote for the same man. The voter has no choice. That is the way it used to be in Germany also. It is done about it, and while an individual cannot contribute more than a certain amount, we find that the Union was able to tell Mr. Cecil DeMille to pay a dollar to a certain fund to defeat a certain bill being voted on and Mr. DeMille not being in favor of the proposition refused to contribute a dollar and was consequently deprived of his work which was worth more than a million dollars a year to Mr. DeMille and that was "Democracy" personified. No, taking it by and large if you eliminate the United States of America from any consideration of the benefits of its form of government, the rest of the nations get along just about as well, under their absolute monarchies as we have under what we call a real Democracy.

In South America we find a Republican form of government—they call all the governments Republics and yet their governments are any kind you will. They have Dictators just as absolute in their power as any Dictator. And they have Revolutions upsetting the power of a particular Dictator, but it is only in the interest of another Dictator.

The long and the short of the whole matter is that the strong men in every nation rule and it is up to us—we, the United States of America, to see to it that the strong men continue to rule.

Appetizers to serve with tomato juice as a first course may be concocted from deviled ham spread on crackers and sprinkled with sliced hard-cooked eggs garnish with a slice of pimento-stuffed olive, a tiny pickled onion or a slice of gherkin.

In Russia, for instance, they have an election but the ballots are all printed before the election; they are all the same; they all vote for the same man. The voter has no choice. That is the way it used to be in Germany also. It made elections a very simple matter. A small coterie of men determine beforehand who is going to be the big boss. The Russians call their form a Republic, but call it what you will—Democracy, Communism, Fascism, or Socialism, the result is the same. The choice by the Republican Convention in Philadelphia will, in all probability, be the candidate chosen by a coterie that has the largest campaign cash and the power of appointing the various Bureaucrats.

A lot of laws have been developed regarding these elections. We say in our law book that corporations shall not contribute cash to these campaigns and likewise that no individual shall be permitted to give more than a certain amount of money to these campaigns, but we find that the Unions are permitted to raise an indefinite amount of money, just as much as they know how to raise for use in these campaigns, and we do not forget how clever Mr. Lewis donated about one-half million dollars of the Miners' Fund to Mr. Roosevelt's second campaign. There is a good deal said but nothing done about it, and while an individual cannot contribute more than a certain amount, we find that the Union was able to tell Mr. Cecil DeMille to pay a dollar to a certain fund to defeat a certain bill being voted on and Mr. DeMille not being in favor of the proposi-

Urges Liberalizing Truck Restrictions

HARRISBURG, May 6.—(INS)—Liberalized weight restrictions for tandem axle semi-trailers were sought by Edward Gogolin, general manager of the Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association.

He told the Philadelphia Automotive Boosters club that the trucking industry did not seek increases in maximum sizes of weights of trucks but merely wanted to raise the 45,000-pound limit on tandem axle semi-trailers.

Engineering studies, he asserted, "proved that these vehicles are not only the safest and most maneuverable of the big truck units but they also place the least stress on the roads."

Gogolin said only three-axle trucks and full trailer combinations were allowed haul top weight of 62,000 pounds.

It is anticipated that the President will use the occasion of his western trip, which begins around the first of June to make the speech, possibly at Chicago, his first stop.

NOW PAID HOURLY RATE

City garbage workers now are paid an hourly rate, instead of by tonnage, according to Richard I. Davis, health director of the city.

Driver receive 96 cents per hour and helpers (or loaders) 91 cents. The new system was put into effect early in January, and after a try-out, Davis concluded the old method proved more economical, hence the language wage plan has been abandoned.

Urges Liberalizing Truck Restrictions

HARRISBURG, May 6.—(INS)—Liberalized weight restrictions for tandem axle semi-trailers were sought by Edward Gogolin, general manager of the Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association.

He told the Philadelphia Automotive Boosters club that the trucking industry did not seek increases in maximum sizes of weights of trucks but merely wanted to raise the 45,000-pound limit on tandem axle semi-trailers.

Engineering studies, he asserted, proved that these vehicles are not only the safest and most maneuverable of the big truck units, but they also place the least stress on the roads.

Gogolin said only three-axle trucks and full trailer combinations were allowed haul top weight of 62,000 pounds.

Truman Planning Foreign Policy Speech Shortly

WASHINGTON, May 6.—(INS)—The White House confirmed reports that President Truman plans to make a major speech on foreign policy in the near future.

Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross said that Mr. Truman expects to make such a speech but no decision has been made as to where and when.

It is anticipated that the President will use the occasion of his western trip, which begins around the first of June to make the speech, possibly at Chicago, his first stop.

The average cost of the U. S. weather service is about six cents per capita each year.

NOW PAID HOURLY RATE

City garbage workers now are paid an hourly rate, instead of by tonnage, according to Richard I. Davis, health director of the city. Driver receive 96 cents per hour and helpers (or loaders) 81 cents. The new system was put into effect early in January and after a try-out, Davis concluded the old method proved more economical, hence the tonnage wage plan has been abandoned.

Drive slow—children move fast.

The Great Virtue Of Patriotism

Highlights On The Sunday School Lesson

Esther before Ahasuerus.

"I will go in unto the king, which is not according to the law; and if I perish, I perish."—Esther 4:16.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL.

"Love of one's country" is the dictionary definition of patriotism. In every country of the world, millions of men have died for their countries. They have died to defend their people from aggression; or striven to free them from tyranny.

To plot against one's country is the vile crime of treason, punishable by death. To willingly give one's life for it, is considered on a par with giving one's life for another; or, in Jesus' words, "Greater love hath no man than this, that he lay down his life for his friend."

In the time of which we are studying today the Jews were in exile, and their situation was most unhappy. They were homesick for their own land, and, as a displaced people, their position in an alien country was precarious, to say the least.

This was the situation in the third year of the reign of conquering King Ahasuerus, when he gave a great feast to neighboring princes and requesting his queen, Vashti, to appear before his guests.

"For she was fair to look upon," Vashti did not choose to do as the king asked, so he became very angry and cast her out. Then he sent letters to all parts of the kingdom asking that fair maidens from each province be sent to court so that he might choose the most beautiful for his new queen.

Attached to the court was a Jew named Mordecai. He had at one time discovered a plot to assassinate the king, had foiled it and brought the criminals to justice. This was written in the book of records, but apparently no one read them and the matter had been forgotten. Mordecai had adopted the orphan daughter of his uncle, a lovely girl named Esther. Mordecai had her brought to the palace to appear before the king, hoping that Ahasuerus' choice would fall on her. King Ahasuerus did choose Esther, falling in love with her at once, and she became Queen Esther.

Also at court was a man named Haman, who ranked high in the king's favor. He was selfish and ambitious, and was unscrupulous in obtaining what he desired.

Haman demanded that all those connected with the court bow low when he appeared, and most did, but Mordecai, the Jew, refused to do this man reverence. For this Haman hated Mordecai and plotted to rid himself of the man and all his people. He persuaded the king to sign an edict that on a certain date all the Jews in the kingdom should be massacred—men, women and children.

When word of this came to Mordecai's ears he "rent his clothes, and put on sackcloth with ashes, and went out into the midst of the city, and cried with a loud and bitter cry." Queen Esther, seeing him in such garb, sent for him to inquire the cause. Mordecai told her of the horror about to befall their people, and reminded her that she herself might become a victim of the edict. He asked her to intercede for them with the king.

If she appeared unbidden before King Ahasuerus, Esther told Mordecai, she might be killed—it was the law—unless the king held out to her the scepter, and she touched it and was saved.

That night, Ahasuerus could not sleep, and to quiet himself he read the book of records. In it he found the account of Mordecai's heroism toward himself, and he asked what had been done to reward this man. Nothing, was the answer. Next day he asked Haman what should be done to the man the king wished to honor. Haman, thinking Ahasuerus meant himself, advised that the royal robes be put upon the man, the king's horse should be given him to ride, and even the royal crown should be placed on his brow. So do to Mordecai, the Jew, said the king.

The queen told Ahasuerus after a second feast with Haman present what dreadful fate Haman had plotted for her people. The king was furious. He had Haman hanged on the very gallows Haman had built for Mordecai. The edict against the Jews was revoked, and thus this Jewish girl became the heroine of a great true story exemplifying real patriotism.

Esther before Ahasuerus.

"I will go in unto the king, which is not according to the law; and if I perish, I perish."—Esther 4:16.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL. This was the situation in the third year of the reign of conquering King Ahasuerus, when he gave a great feast to neighboring princes and requesting his queen, Vashti, to appear before his guests. "For she was fair to look upon." Vashti did not choose to do as the king asked, so he became very angry and cast her out. Then he sent letters to all parts of the kingdom asking that fair maidens from each province be sent to court so that he might choose the most beautiful for his new queen. Attached to the court was a Jew named Mordecai. He had at one time discovered a plot to assassinate the king, had foiled it and brought the criminals to justice. This was written in the book of records, but apparently no one read them and the matter had been forgotten. Mordecai had adopted the orphan daughter of his uncle, a lovely girl named Esther. Mordecai had her brought to the palace to appear before the king, hoping that Ahasuerus' choice would fall on her. King Ahasuerus did choose Esther, falling in love with her at once, and she became Queen Esther.

Also at court was a man named Haman who ranked high in the king's favor. He was selfish and ambitious, and was unscrupulous in obtaining what he desired.

Haman demanded that all those connected with the court bow low when he appeared, and most did, but Mordecai, the Jew, refused to do this man reverence. For this Haman hated Mordecai and plotted to rid himself of the man and all his people. He persuaded the king to sign an edict that on a certain date all the Jews in the kingdom should be massacred—men, women and children.

When word of this came to Mordecai's ears he "rent his clothes, and put on sackcloth with ashes, and went out into the midst of the city, and cried with a loud and bitter cry." Queen Esther, seeing him in such garb, sent for him to inquire the cause. Mordecai told her of the horror about to befall their people, and reminded her that she herself might become a victim of the edict. He asked her to intercede for them with the king.

If she appeared unbidden before King Ahasuerus, Esther told Mordecai, she might be killed—it was the law—unless the king held out to her the royal scepter to touch. Nevertheless she would go, "and if I perish, I perish," she declared. Dressed in her royal robes, Esther came into the king's presence, and when Ahasuerus saw her he held out to her the scepter, and she touched it and was saved. What did his queen want? Ahasuerus asked. Only that he would dine with her on the morrow and bring Haman with him. Haman was delighted at this sign of honor, and that night he had a great high gallows built near the palace, on which he planned to hang Mordecai.

That night, Ahasuerus could not sleep, and to quiet himself he read the book of records. In it he found the account of Mordecai's heroism toward himself, and he asked what had been done to reward this man. Nothing, was the answer. Next day he asked Haman what should be done to the man the king wished to honor. ## Federal Funds To Aid Hospital Work In State

HARRISBURG, May 6.—(INS)—Pennsylvania's public and non-profit hospitals today had a green light from the federal government to launch a $22,500,000 expansion program during the next five years.

Welfare Secretary Charles R. Barber said Surgeon General Leonard A. Sheele, of the U. S. Public Health Service, has approved the commonwealth's plan authorized by the federal hospital survey and construction act. Rural hospitals may benefit the most.

Under the federal plan, public and other non-profit hospitals in Pennsylvania will receive $4,500,000 a year for five years. Hospitals participating in the program will be required to match federal funds with $2 for each $1 received, Barber explained.

Although it authorized state participation in the program, the General Assembly made no provision for expenditure of state funds.

Need Quarter Billion
An 18-month survey which resulted in the state's plan for hospital expansion estimated that a quarter-billion dollars would be needed to provide adequate hospital facilities in Pennsylvania.

Priorities, based on need, have been established for allocation of the federal appropriation by the Pennsylvania committee on hospital facilities, organizations and standards, Barber said.

"First consideration necessarily will be given to rural outlets," he explained. "However, the plan is flexible enough so that if hospitals in a particular area are not interested, the money can be used in another area."

To Cover Expansion
Construction generally will cover expansion of existing facilities, particularly in the number of hospital beds, Barber said, but "it could cover new hospital construction" where there is a need.

Because of the limited funds in comparison with the state's overall need, areas with "poorest" facilities are expected to realize the greatest advantage from the plan.

Eligible under the federal program would be general hospitals, state-aided hospitals, commonwealth-owned institutions, nurses training schools, and state sanatoria.

With approval of the surgeon general's office, hospitals interested in expansion of their facilities now can request formal applications for participation, Barber said.

Priceless Bodder, owned by W. P. O'Kane, of Ballymena, Northern Ireland, is being hailed as "champion dog of the year" since winning in England, the Greyhound Racing Association race for champions, with prize money of $3,400 and a trophy.

Federal Funds To Aid Hospital Work In State

HARRISBURG, May 6.—(UPI)—Pennsylvania's public and non-profit hospitals today had a green light from the federal government to launch a $22,500,000 expansion program during the next five years. Welfare Secretary Charles R. Barber said Surgeon General Leonard A. Shale, of the U. S. Public Health Service, has approved the commonwealth's plan authorized by the federal hospital survey and construction act. Rural hospitals may benefit the most.

Under the federal plan, public and other non-profit hospitals in Pennsylvania will receive $4,500,000 a year for five years. Hospitals participating in the program will be required to match federal funds with $2 for each $1 received, Barber explained.

Although it authorized state participation in the program, the General Assembly made no provision for expenditure of state funds.

Need Quarter Billion
An 18-month survey which resulted in the state's plan for hospital expansion estimated that a quarter billion dollars would be needed to provide adequate hospital facilities in Pennsylvania.

Priorities, based on need, have been established for allocation of the federal appropriation by the Pennsylvania committee on hospital facilities, organizations and standards, Barber said.

"First consideration necessarily will be given to rural outlets," he explained. "However, the plan is flexible enough so that if hospitals in a particular area are not interested, the money can be used in another area."

To Cover Expansion
Construction generally will cover expansion of existing facilities, particularly in the number of hospital beds, Barber said, but "it could cover new hospital construction" where there is a need.

"Because of the limited funds in comparison with the state's overall need, areas with 'poorest' facilities are expected to realize the greatest advantage from the plan."

"Eligible under the federal program would be general hospitals, state-owned hospitals, commonwealth-owned institutions, nurses training schools, and state sanatoria."

With approval of the surgeon general's office, hospitals interested in expansion of their facilities now can request formal applications for participation, Barber said.

Princess Bebe, owned by W. P. O'Kane, of Baltimore, Northern Ireland, is being hailed as "champion dog of the year" since winning in England, the Greyhound racing association race for champions, with prize money of $3,400 and a trophy.

Foreign Policy Program Given By Gov. Dewey

By LEO W. O'Brien
(U. S. S. Staff Correspondent)

EUGENE, Ore., May 6.—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey is on record today with a statement that he has in mind two men, either of whom, as secretary of state, could say "no" to Joseph Stalin.

He placed John Foster Dulles of New York, international lawyer and prominent churchman, and Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg (R-Mich.), in this category.

The New York governor and presidential aspirant said Dulles "has said 'no' so often for so many years that Stalin respects him".

He added: "And Senator Vandenberg does the same thing".

The governor made what amounts to his first statement on cabinet possibilities, if he is renominated and then elected, in a question-and-answer period at the University of Oregon in Eugene before 4,000 persons.

The candidate in Oregon's May 21 Republican presidential primary gave his program for preserving peace.

Foreign Policy Points
His eight points on foreign policy were:

1. Swift use of the European recovery plan to bring about a United States of Europe.
2. Military strength at home.
3. Re-establishment of "an adequate American intelligence service."
4. Organization of an American "propaganda war" against the blandishments of Soviet Russia.
5. Immediate help to China.
6. A "genuine" bi-partisan foreign policy.
7. A "cool-headed" attitude toward world affairs by the American people and government.
8. Assumption of moral leadership in the world.

Foreign Trade Necessary To U. S. Economy

Communications Man Tells Service Clubs How Vital
Foreign Trade Is To Us

KIWANIS HOST AT LUNCHEON

Addressing a combined meeting of local service clubs with the New Castle Kiwanis club as host, H. J. Osterdorf, regional manager of international communications of the Western Union Telegraph company told how vital foreign trade is to our national economy.

Mr. Osterdorf is one of the best informed speakers who has been heard here in some time, and he presented his subject in such a gripping manner that his audience was visibly impressed.

Loss of foreign trade affects all of us, Mr. Osterdorf stated, whether we are aware of the fact or not, and the end of the war brought the biggest economic and political war that this country has ever been engaged in.

Resources Waning

During the war, our productivity was stepped up tremendously, while that of the rest of the world was at a standstill. Help to Europe is not strictly a matter of charity, he stated, because we need every one of those 16 countries affected as much as they need us. America now faces a shortage of customers for her world trade, and this shortage will be more acute as time goes on. If we cannot put these countries on their feet economically, we will be sunk. Communism, he stated, which this country dreads the most, only flourishes in the midst of poverty. American dollars, he asserted, are the only dollars accepted in world trade today, and how wisely we use this fact will determine the prosperity of the world.

World War II, he stated, presented a terrific drain on our natural resources. Finished steel requires chromite, manganese, nickel, tungsten and vanadium. Our domestic supplies of these metals is far inadequate to meet our needs. Before the war, we exported lead. Now we must import three-fourths as much as we produce. The same condition, he stated, applies to bauxite, copper, zinc and petroleum.

Mr. Osterdorf, in deviating somewhat from the subject, told his audience how some of the great and seemingly almost impossible communications problems were solved, many of them by his company during the war.

Keeping Abreast

International communications have kept abreast of world needs, he stated. Whereas the original cables handling international messages had a capacity of only 15 words per minute at a cost of five dollars per word, this has been stepped up so that the newest type permalloy cable is capable of handling 500 words per minute at a cost of only 25 cents per word; and overnight service is available at eight and a third cents per word. During the war, there were 21 transatlantic cables, of which six were turned over to the government for exclusive use, and they transmitted 314 millions of words. The Western Union laboratories perfected a machine known as the tele-crypton, which coded and decoded messages, saving a tremendous amount of man hours. These worked instantaneously, scrambling the messages as they were sent and unscrambling them at the other end of the cables.

In addition to the host club, clubs represented included Rotary, Optimists, Wolves and Quota.

The speaker was introduced by past president John McGrath of the host club.

Parsnips are one of the most economical of the root vegetables generally available. If they are boiled and then candied in a mixture of brown sugar, melted butter or margarine and orange juice they are usually well liked.

More than 7,500 varieties of American apples are recorded but only about 50 varieties are of commercial importance.

Tax Program For State Is Being Outlined Now

State Income Tax Or Sales Tax Proposals Are Under Consideration

By SUZANNE FLICK
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

HARRISBURG, May 6.—A blueprint for a "scientific" Pennsylvania tax program is expected to be drafted for the 1949 session of the General Assembly.

The key to the master tax plan appears to have narrowed down to either a state income tax or sales tax.

The program is expected to propose taxes that would eliminate present piecemeal levies and at the same time encourage greater industrial activity in the state.

Members of a special six-member legislative committee surveying the commonwealth's tax program and pinpointing flaws say recommendations definitely will be handed lawmakers during the next session opening in January.

Preference For Sales Tax

Preference for an all-embracing sales levy that would return large sums to replace the hedge podge of small taxes appeared to make the committee's job easier.

A sales tax of only one per cent would return an estimated $140,000,000 a biennium, only $4,000,000 short of Gov. James H. Duff's emergency tax program that places imposts on soft drinks, beer, cigarettes, corporate net income and capital stocks.

Most assemblymen admitted private preference for a sales tax during the 1947 session while swallowing the luxury tax rammed through by the governor.

Some of the committee members believe a sales levy would be easier to enact than an income tax.

Need Amendment

To impose a graduated income tax would require a constitutional amendment passed by two separately elected general assemblies and approved by a majority of the voters. It would take until late 1951 before such a levy could be approved and probably 1952 before it could be put into operation.

Lawmakers generally believe it would be difficult to persuade voters to accept an income tax.

A flat income levy would be opposed violently by labor and other groups. Due to a constitutional clause requiring uniformity of taxes on a single class of subjects would preclude any other immediate form of income tax.

The levy would yield a sizeable revenue, but no estimate was given due to necessary exemptions that would have to be made for low-income brackets.

To Submit Report

The committee, which will submit its report first to the joint state government commission, plan to continue studying Pennsylvania's place in the tax picture of comparable industrial states and to scan estimated financial needs of the state during 1949-51.

Some members feel it would be easier to prepare a sales levy than an income tax of any kind which drains money from taxpayers in visible chunks.

The committee is composed of two senators, two house members and two citizens. State Commerce Secretary Orus J. Matthews is chairman.

The committee's report would be integrated with findings of a legislative group checking reports that Pennsylvania's industrial expansion is at an ebb due chiefly to high taxes.

Health Talks

By DR. W. A. WOMER
City Health Superintendent

NEWLY WED

The favorite salad for a bride and groom is just lettuce alone.

It is a pretty good idea for every person to be let alone occasionally.

Rest and relaxation are necessary for good health. Mom is glad when she gets the children all sound asleep in bed and she can have a little time to rest and read the paper.

Young people need rest and old people do too. Recreation is good but it is not always the same as rest.

Sometimes people wear themselves out more with so called recreation than with work. Eight hours sleep in bed should help some.

The plural of octopus is octopuses octopodes or octopi.

Yes, even with the spring dance coming and Hugo (Bill Sickafuse) with his red jalopy trying to date Ginny! Chuck gets a job and is very secretive about it but Billy (Bob Pontius) reveals that it's working on a garbage wagon and on his way home, he losses the $5.00 he has earned. This only

Tax Program For State Is Being Outlined Now

State Income Tax Or Sales Tax Proposals Are Under Consideration

By SUZANNE FLICK
(E. S. Staff Correspondent)
HARRISBURG, May 6.—A blueprint for a "scientific" Pennsylvania tax program is expected to be drafted for the 1949 session of the General Assembly.

The key to the master tax plan appears to have narrowed down to either a state income tax or sales tax.

The program is expected to propose taxes that would eliminate present piecemeal levies and at the same time encourage greater industrial activity in the state.

Members of a special six-member legislative committee surveying the commonwealth's tax program and pinpointing flaws say recommendations definitely will be handed lawmakers during the next session opening in January.

Preference For Sales Tax
Preference for an all-embracing sales levy that would return large sums to replace the hodge podge of small taxes appeared to make the committee's job easier.

A sales tax of only one per cent would return an estimated $140,000,000 a biennium, only $4,000,000 short of Gov. James H. Duff's emergency tax program that places imposts on soft drinks, beer, cigarettes, corporate net income and capital stocks.

Most assemblymen admitted private preference for a sales tax during the 1947 session while swallowing the luxury tax rammed through by the governor.

Some of the committee members believe a sales levy would be easier to enact than an income tax.

Need Amendment

To impose a graduated income tax would require a constitutional amendment passed by two separately elected general assemblies and approved by a majority of the voters. It would take until late 1951 before such a levy could be approved and probably 1952 before it could be put into operation.

Lawmakers generally believe it would be difficult to persuade voters to accept an income tax.

A flat income levy would be opposed violently by labor and other groups. Due to a constitutional clause requiring uniformity of taxes on a single class of subjects would preclude any other immediate form of income tax.

The levy would yield a sizeable revenue, but no estimate was given due to necessary exemptions that would have to be made for low income brackets.

To Submit Report

The committee, which will submit its report first to the joint state government commission, plans to continue studying Pennsylvania's place in the tax picture of comparable industrial states and to scan estimated financial needs of the state during 1949-51.

Some members feel it would be easier to prepare a sales levy than an income tax of any kind which drains money from taxpayers in visible chunks.

The committee is composed of two senators, two house members and two citizens. State Commerce Secretary Orus J. Matthews is chairman.

The committee's report would be integrated with findings of a legislative group checking reports that Pennsylvania's industrial expansion is at an ebb due chiefly to high taxes.

NEWLY WED

The favorite salad for a bride and groom is just lettuce alone.

It is a pretty good idea for every person to be let alone occasionally. Rest and relaxation are necessary for good health. Mom is glad when she gets the children all sound asleep in bed and she can have a little time to rest and read the paper.

Young people need rest and old people do too. Recreation is good but it is not always the same as rest.

Sometimes people wear themselves out more with so called recreation than with work.

Night hours sleep in bed should help some.

Chuck (Bob Patterson) had to borrow the car that afternoon.

You can't ask a girl like Ginny (Thelma Boozell) to walk to a roller skating party! But Dad (James Book), knowing that it had quered a business deal, cancelled his allowance for two weeks.

Yes, even with the spring dance coming and Hugo (Bill Siskafuse) with his red jalopy trying to date Ginny! Chuck gets a job and is very secretive about it but Billy (Bob Portius) reveals that it's working on a garbage wagon, and on his way home, he loses the $5.00 he has earned. This only starts the action which gathers speed as it goes along and ends up happily.

Others of the cast include: Mrs. Wagner (Grandma) Joan McKee; Hannah Hawks, Agnes Therson; Barbie Allenby, Mary Jane Lockhart; Patsy Gardner, Annie DeCesare; Nancy Pomeroy, Edna Siskafuse; George Bennett, Don Smith.

Former Sheriff Reynolds
Asks Planes Cease Flying Over His House

OTHER EVENTS IN COURT HOUSE

Before Judge W. Walter Braham in court room No. 1 on Wednesday, the suit of former Sheriff H. M. Reynolds and his wife against the Wilson Aviation company and the Penn Aero company opened.

Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds ask that the companies be restrained from flying directly over their home at a low altitude, claiming the constant noise disturbs sleep and induces nervousness.

Former Sheriff Reynolds testified Wednesday morning saying that the constant noise had impaired his health. He recently returned from Florida where he spent the winter in an effort to regain his health.

For the defense it will be stated that the airport was there before the Reynolds home was built, that the planes do not disturb anyone, and that there are other planes flying to and from the field not owned by the defendant.

Pollution of State Streams Will End Says Governor Duff

HARRISBURG, May 6.—(INS)—Gov. James H. Duff today believes that century-old pollution of Pennsylvania streams will be ended within a few years if the public does not relax support of the clean-up campaign.

He called on the Pennsylvania Federation of Women's Clubs to promote the drive in a speech to more than 1200 delegates attending the organization's annual convention at Harrisburg.

"Streams have become the number one health menace," Duff asserted. "But if everyone does his duty, we can clean up the streams and eliminate the health problem in a few years."

Water in 80 per cent of Pennsylvania homes come from "vilely polluted streams," he explained, carrying many types of germs that survive ordinary treatment.

"We are making real progress," the governor reported, "and the only way we can fail to put the program over is to lack public support."

There are 84 Washington, 26 Jefferson, 24 Lincoln, 24 Jackson and 24 Franklin counties in the U. S.

By FRANCINE MARKEL

"(1) If the family of a bride-to-be gives her an engagement party, is it necessary for the maid-of-honor to give her a shower? (2) What would you suggest as an engagement present? (3) What would be an appropriate wedding gift?"

the maid-of-honor to give the bride a shower, but it is a friendly gesture and she usually does.

(2) Engagement gifts are not essential; but if you are invited to the party, you might bring a small gift—something for her "hope chest."

(3) Something for her new home—a lamp, candlesticks, a blanket, a clock, or a similar gift.

Question: I am to have some business cards made. Please guide me in this matter, as to size, arrangement and wording.

Answer: Your business cards may or may not be larger than your personal cards. This fact is usually determined by the amount of wording to be placed on them. The title "Mr." is generally omitted from business cards but not necessarily so. The address should be in the lower, right-hand corner and the telephone number is ordinarily inserted in the corner opposite. Your profession may be placed directly under your name. If you must place the name of your company in the center of the card, your name should then be placed in the lower left-hand corner and the telephone number in the upper left-hand corner, leaving the address, as stated, in the lower right-hand corner.

Present your problems to Miss Markel who will promptly send personal replies to questions from readers inclosing stamped, addressed envelopes.

HIGH COST OF FEED CUTS CHICK OUTPUT

HARRISBURG — Pennsylvania farmers still consider poultry feed costs out of proportion to prices they receive for eggs and poultry and, as a result, 1,000,000 fewer chicks were hatched in the state during March than in the same month last year, according to an announcement by the State Department of Agriculture. Demand for chicks has declined to the extent that April hatchings may not come up to the March production of 11,800,000 chicks by Pennsylvania hatcheries. The drop of eight per cent from March 1947 was 735,000 under the five-year average, 1942-1946, a Federal-State survey disclosed.

Before Judge W. Walter Brabham in court room No. 1 on Wednesday, the suit of former Sheriff H. M. Reynolds and his wife against the Wilson Aviation company and the Penn Aero company opened.
Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds ask that the companies be restrained from flying directly over their home at a low altitude, claiming the constant noise disturbs sleep and induces nervousness.
Former Sheriff Reynolds testified Wednesday morning saying that the constant noise had impaired his health. He recently returned from Florida where he spent the winter in an effort to regain his health.
For the defense it will be stated that the airport was built before the Reynolds home was built, that the planes do not disturb anyone, and that there are other planes flying to and from the field not owned by the defendant.

Pollution of State
Streams Will End
Says Governor Duff

HARRISBURG, May 6.—(INS)—Gov. James H. Duff today believes that century-old pollution of Pennsylvania streams will be ended within a few years if the public does not relax support of the clean-up campaign.

He called on the Pennsylvania Federation of Women's Clubs to promote the drive in a speech to more than 1200 delegates attending the organization's annual convention at Harrisburg.
"Streams have become the number one health menace," Duff asserted. "But if everyone does his duty, we can clean up the streams and eliminate the health problem in a few years."
Water in 80 per cent of Penn-sylvanias homes come from "vilely polluted streams," he explained, carrying many types of germs that survive ordinary treatment.

"We are making real progress," the governor reported, "and the only way we can fail to put the program over is to lack public support."
There are 24 Washington, 26 Jefferson, 24 Lincoln, 24 Jackson and 24 Franklin counties in the U. S.

Good Taste
By FRANCINE MARKEL
"If the family of a bride-to-be gives her an engagement party, is it necessary for the maid-of-honor to give her a shower?" (2) What would you suggest as an engagement present? (3) What would be an appropriate wedding gift?
Answer: It is not essential for the maid-of-honor to give the bride a shower, but it is a friendly gesture and she usually does.

(2) Engagement gifts are not essential; but if you are invited to the party, you might bring a small gift—something for her "hope chest."
(3) Something for her new home—a lamp, candlesticks, a blanket, a clock, or a similar gift.
Question: I am to have some business cards made. Please guide me in this matter, as to size, arrangement and wording.

Answer: Your business cards may or may not be larger than your personal cards. This fact is usually determined by the amount of wording to be placed on them. The title "Mr." is generally omitted from business cards but not necessarily so. The address should be in the lower, right-hand corner, and the telephone number is ordinarily inserted in the corner opposite. Your profession may be placed directly under your name. If you must place the name of your company in the center of the card, your name should then be placed in the lower left-hand corner and the telephone number in the upper left-hand corner, leaving the address, as stated, in the lower right-hand corner.

Present your problems to Miss Markel who will promptly send personal replies to questions from readers enclosing stamped, addressed envelopes.

STATE SEEKS BIDS ON BRIDGE PAINTING

HARRISBURG—Bids will be opened May 14 by the Department of Highways for the painting of 190 steel and iron bridges. It is expected that on May 21 and 28 bids will be taken for the contract painting of additional structure in seven engineering districts. The Department also plans to paint a number of smaller bridges with its maintenance forces during the coming season. The number of bridges for which bids will be received May 14 by engineering districts follows: District 1, Franklin; District 2, Clearfield; District 3, Williamsport; District 4, Scranton; District 5, Binghamton.

HIGH COST OF FEED CUTS CHICK OUTPUT

HARRISBURG—Pennsylvania farmers still consider poultry feed costs out of proportion to prices they receive for eggs and poultry and, as a result, 1,000,000 fewer chicks were hatched in the state during March than in the same month last year, according to an announcement by the State Department of Agriculture. Demand for chicks has declined to the extent that April hatchings may not come up to the March production of 11,800,000 chicks by Pennsylvania hatcheries. The drop of eight per cent from March 1947 was 735,000 under the five-year average, 1942-1946, a Federal-State survey disclosed.

HEAD ROOM NEEDED
MELBOURNE, Australia—The city council's new $16,000 Rolls Royce had to be garaged for alterations before it was used once by the lord mayor. There wasn't clearance over the back seat for his honors' plumed hat nor his guests' silk toppers.

HIGHWAY DEPT. SPRING CLEANUP ON

HARRISBURG—Maintenance employees for the Department of Highways are the midst of their annual spring scrap cleanup. Items being assembled at the various county storage sheds include scrap iron, scrap material, oil drums and containers for bluish materials. In addition, the workers are gathering aluminum, copper, tin, brass scrap and junked storage batteries. When reports of the scrap drive have been compiled by the department's equipment engineer about July 1, steps will be taken to sell the material.

SHOW MUST WAIT
MILWAUKEE—Dr. John Owen bought theater tickets four times within a month. He was called away from the play each evening to deliver a baby.

Red Blood Cells Must Be Kept Up If You Want To Feel Alive

Thousands Now Regaining Old Time Pep, Vigor and Drive By Releasing Vibrant Energy To Every Muscle, Fibre, Cell

Overwork, undue worry, and lack of certain foods often reduce the red-blood strength—and starved, weak, puny blood just hasn't the power to keep up your energy and drive.

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that 888 Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the 888 Tonic formula, which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, 888 Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloat and give of bad sour food taste.

Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on 888 Tonic now! As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—your flesh all out hollow places. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle from your drug store. 888 Tonic helps build sturdy health.

April Was Warmer And Wetter Month

Excess in Temperature and Precipitation Was Noted Here Last Month

April proved both warmer and wetter than normally, the figures of Baxter F. Johnson, U. S. Weather Observer reveal. The temperature was 4.3 degrees per day above normal, and the precipitation was .92 inches over the normal.

The mean maximum temperature for the month was 65, the mean minimum was 40.4, and the mean was 52.7 degrees. The highest temperature was 86 degrees on April 26 and the lowest was 22 degrees on April 4.

Total precipitation for the month was 4.33 inches, the greatest in 24 hours being 1.24 on April 11. There was only two-tenths inches of snow noted.

In 1947, the temperature was six-tenths of a degree above normal, while the precipitation was 1.16 inches over the normal. There were 10 clear days, eight partly cloudy, and 12 cloudy days.

Hunt Three Thugs In Philadelphia, Salesman Slain

PHILADELPHIA, May 6.—(INS)—Three thugs, one of whom shot and killed a used car salesman, were the object of an intense police hunt today.

The victim, Harry Ford, 59, was cut down with a blast from a sawed-off shot-gun despite the fact that he offered no resistance to the bandits, witnesses said.

Four zones of standard time in the U. S. were adopted in 1883.

Florida Primary Requires Run-Off

MIAMI, Fla., May 6.—(INS)—A close race between Dan McCarthy and Fuller Warren in Florida's Democratic gubernatorial primary made a run-off primary a certainty today.

McCarthy, a Fort Pierce citrus grower, and Warren, a Jacksonville attorney, are running neck and neck for the lead in a field of nine gubernatorial candidates in Tuesday's primary.

Unofficial returns from 1,276 of Florida's 1,537 precincts gave Warren 144,622 votes and McCarthy 138,550. The other seven candidates are out of the running.

The run-off primary will be held May 23. A victory in the Democratic primary is tantamount to election in Florida.

TO FURTHER STUDY IMPROVING TOBACCO

LANCASTER, Pa., May 6.—(INS)—A research laboratory operated in Lancaster insures cigar smokers the "same good smoke each year."

The laboratory, newest local installation of the General Cigar Company, was built to further the study of the complicated chemical and physical changes that take place when "green" tobacco leaves are transformed into the mellow finished product.

Specific problems now being worked on are:

Why certain Wisconsin tobacco will not burn satisfactorily and also new methods of improving tobacco.

The old method of judging tobacco by sight, touch and smell is not always an infallible one, experts have found.

Red Blood Cells Must Be Kept Up If You Want To Feel Alive

Thousands Now Regain Old Time Pep, Vigor and Drive By Releasing Vibrant Energy To Every Muscle, Fibre, Cell

Overwork, undue worry, and lack of certain foods often reduce the red-blood strength—and starved, weak, puny blood just hasn't the power to keep up your energy and drive.

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that 888 Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the 888 Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, 888 Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organic and too little or weak—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloating and give off that sour food taste.

Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on 888 Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you feel better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—arm, back, all over hollow places. Millions of bodies emit that healthy glow from your drug store. 888 Tonic helps Build sturdy health.

"Dear Father give us some mothers who earnestly desire to rear children to the Glory of God. Help mothers to welcome babies into their home instead of halting procrastination which is murder. # Background History Of Episcopal Church

(Contributed—Article III)
Ancient Practices and Usages of the Episcopal Church. The Episcopal Church is a Liturgical and Sacramental Church. As Trinity Episcopal church celebrates the 100th anniversary of its founding, it brings to mind the heritage of the Episcopal church is centuries older and the ancient practices and usages date back to the very earliest days of Christianity.

The teachings of the church are summed up in its creeds from the earliest times. A creed is simply an ordered statement of belief. There was something in a nature of a creed used by Christians when they were baptized. It may have been simply a faith in Jesus Christ or in the Holy Trinity; additional statements brought into existence, gave to us the Apostles' Creed by the middle of the second century, almost as it is known by churchmen today. The Council of Nicea, 325 A. D., set forth a fuller statement of the faith in what is known today as the Nicene Creed. This is the creed used in the principal services of the Episcopal church today because of its more precise statement of Christian Doctrine.

The earliest records we have tell of forms of services commonly referred to as the Liturgy. Although these forms had local differences, the main parts of the service were kept. At first, these were not written down but were later printed on parchments and by the end of the Middle Ages, the services were all written in full in several different books. In the fourteenth century, these were all translated into English and combined into the first Book of Common Prayer issued in 1549. There have been several additions since then, but all were substantially the same as the first Prayer Book.

The Lord's Prayer, the only prayer our Lord, Himself, left for us, has always had a place in every service of public worship where Christians have met and is the standard for all other prayers.

Church Worship
The worship of the church follows the course of the Christian year, divided into eight seasons illustrating the special incidents and teachings of the gospel. These are Advent, Christmas, Epiphany, Lent, Easter, Ascension, Whitsuntide and Trinity. Attention is thus focused on the whole gospel and no part can ever be omitted.

Local habits and traditions vary in certain places but some customs are generally followed such as kneeling for prayer, standing for praise and sitting for instruction. Lenten talk, gossip and social gatherings are avoided in the church proper. Vestments are worn and thus the minds of the congregation are kept from thinking of different styles and kinds of clothes which might be worn. The colors in vestments and altar hangings represent the different seasons of the church year. White is for feasts days, purple for penitential seasons, red for Whitsuntide and martyred saints, green for general seasons, and black is for sorrow.

Special days are observed throughout the year in honor of the apostles and evangelists which are called Saints Days and for which the Prayer Book provides proper Collects, which are specific prayers; Epistles, which are a form of instruction, and Gospels, which are a form of praise.

Candles are used on the altar to symbolize Christ as the Light of the World; flowers are used to symbolize the Resurrection.

Sacraments
A sacrament is "an outward and visible sign of an inward and spiritual grace." Sacraments are God appointed instruments and by the ancient writers are called "the extension of the incarnation."

The sacramental idea is everywhere. The whole world is built on it and human life works by it. Each sacrament confers its own grace and no other.

There are two which are called Great Sacraments, Holy Baptism and Holy Eucharist, universally accepted as necessary to salvation. Both of these were given directly by Jesus Christ with His orders to use them and pass them on.

The first great sacrament is Holy Baptism. Christ gave special directions for the use of this sacrament and it has always been practiced by the church from the very beginning.

The second great sacrament is the Holy Eucharist also sometimes called the Lord's Supper and Holy Communion. The Holy Eucharist is a memorial sacrifice and a thanksgiving; it is the Christian sacrifice and the Christian feast.

There are five minor sacraments: Confirmation, Matrimony, Penance, Holy Orders and Unction.

These are universally applicable and are taught by the church, although they are not universally accepted as necessary to salvation. Their grace operates only under certain conditions or in particular states of life.

World Situation Dangerous, But Not Desperate—Eden

LONDON, May 6.—(INS)—Former British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden described the world situation as "very dangerous but not desperate."

Eden addressed the House of Commons on the second day of a foreign affairs debate.

He warned the people of the world against "fatalism." Eden said: "There will be no truce or peace or any real sense of security in any part of the world unless or until there is acceptance by nations of a rule of law and unless there is a world authority in being which has its respect and can maintain a rule of law."

Coal tar products are a very important factor in our civilized life.

FARMERS RANK
AIRPLANE NOW AS NEEDED MACHINERY
LANCASTER, Pa., May 6.—(INS)—If you have decided to become a farmer don't forget to buy an airplane with your farm equipment. Farmers throughout the nation are reported to be ranking the airplane with the tractor and reaper as essential machinery.

Farm Agent M. M. Smith said that last year farmers hired planes to blow bluish-white bug-killing dust on 500 acres of tomatoes, 125 acres of seed corn, and 75 acres of potatoes and peas in Lancaster county alone.

The chief advantage of the plane is the time-saving element. By tractor or machine it would take about two hours to dust a 10 acre field. By plane it takes 20 minutes.

April Was Warmer And Wetter Month

Excess in Temperature and Precipitation Was Noted Here Last Month

April proved both warmer and wetter than normally, the figures of Barker F. Johnson, U. S. Weather Observer reveal. The temperature was 4.3 degrees per day above normal, and the precipitation was .92 inches over the normal. The mean maximum temperature for the month was 65, the mean minimum was 40.4 and the mean was 52.7 degrees. The highest temperature was 86 degrees on April 26 and the lowest was 22 degrees on April 1. Total precipitation for the month was 4.33 inches, the greatest in 24 hours being 1.24 on April 11. There was only two-tenths inches of snow noted. In 1947, the temperature was six-tenths of a degree above normal, while the precipitation was 1.16 inches over the normal. There were 10 clear days, eight partly cloudy, and 12 cloudy days.

Hunt Three Thugs In Philadelphia, Salesman Slain

PHILADELPHIA, May 6.—(INS)—Three thugs, one of whom shot and killed a used car salesman, were the object of an intense police hunt today.

The victim, Harry Ford, 58, was cut down with a blast from a sawed-off shot-gun despite the fact that he offered no resistance to the bandits, witnesses said.

Four zones of standard time in the U. S. were adopted in 1883.

Florida Primary Requires Run-Off

MIAMI, Fla., May 6.—(INS)—A close race between Dan McCarthy and Fuller Warren in Florida's Democratic gubernatorial primary made a run-off primary a certainty today.

McCarthy, a Fort Pierce citrus grower, and Warren, a Jacksonville attorney, are running neck and neck for the lead in a field of nine gubernatorial candidates in Tuesday's primary.

Unofficial returns from 1,276 of Florida's 1,537 precincts gave Warren 144,622 votes and McCarthy 138,550. The other seven candidates are out of the running. The run-off primary will be held May 25. A victory in the Democratic primary is tantamount to election in Florida.

TO FURTHER STUDY IMPROVING TOBACCO

LANCASTER, Pa., May 6.—(INS)—A research laboratory operated in Lancaster insures cigar smokers the "same good smoke each year."

The laboratory, newest local installation of the General Cigar Company, was built to further the study of the complicated chemical and physical changes that take place when "green" tobacco leaves are transformed into the mellow finished product.

Specific problems now being worked on are: Why certain Wisconsin tobacco will not burn satisfactorily and also new methods of improving tobacco. The old method of judging tobacco by sight, touch and smell is not always an infallible one, experts have found.

Will Make Effort To Side Track Bill On Margarine Tax

WASHINGTON, May 6.—(INS)—Sen. Aiken (R) Vt., said today that dairy state senators will seek to sidetrack the margarine tax repeal bill until long-range farm legislation is enacted.

Aiken announced that he will ask the GOP Policy Committee to block an oleo fight until the new agriculture policy measure passes.

The Senator was defeated by a 47-30 vote in his effort to have the House-passed bill sent to the Agriculture Committee instead of the Senate Finance Group. The Finance Committee meets today to decide about hearings on the measure.

Aiken said that farm-state senators are afraid that the margarine battle may bring "recriminations that could endanger the long-range farm program, particularly in the House."

At the same time, he said that the victory of margarine-state senators sending the measure to the finance committee will not interfere with efforts to attach "oleo identification" amendments to the tax repeal bill.

Young Hosiery Mill Worker Faced With Charge of Murder

EPHRATA, Pa., May 6.—(INS)—Wilford L. Pottier, 16-year-old Ephrata hosiery mill worker, was faced today with a murder charge growing out of the death of a 15-year-old former sweetheart following a sidewalk argument.

Police said Phoebe Artz, of Denver, a Lancaster county high school student, died of a fractured skull allegedly suffered when Pottier beat her head on the sidewalk after she has rejected his attempts at reconciliation.

Youngstown Voters Defeat Tax Raise

Curtailment of City Departments
To Be Necessary Now
As Result

YOUNGSTOWN, O., May 6.—All city department heads are preparing reduction schedules to pare operating costs within available income, as a result of the defeat of the 2.5 mill municipal operating levy here Tuesday.

More than 26,000 voters opposed the levy to 22,000 who were in favor of it.

Mayor Charles P. Henderson warned that "layoffs and reductions in substantial numbers cannot be avoided." He declined to indicate when and in what numbers the layoffs will be made, but said "they must be prompt."

The city faces a $500,000 deficit this year.

Denies He'll Quit

Vice Admiral William W. Smith, chairman of the Maritime Commission, denies reports that he will resign his post under White House pressure because of a lack of "cooperation" from the commission.

World Situation Dangerous, But Not Desperate-Eden

LONDON, May 6.—(INS)—Former British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden described the world situation as "very dangerous but not desperate."

Eden addressed the House of Commons on the second day of a foreign affairs debate. He warned the people of the world against "fatalism."

"There will be no truce or peace or any real sense of security in any part of the world unless or until there is acceptance by nations of a rule of law and unless there is a world authority in being which has its respect and can maintain a rule of law."

AIRPLANE NOW AS NEEDED MACHINERY
LANCASTER, Pa., May 6.—(INS)—If you have decided to become a farmer don't forget to buy an airplane with your farm equipment. Farmers throughout the nation are reported to be ranking the airplane with the tractor and reaper as essential machinery.

Farm Agent M. M. Smith said that last year farmers hired planes to blow bluish-white bug-killing dust on 500 acres of tomatoes, 125 acres of seed corn, and 75 acres of potatoes and peas in Lancaster county alone.

The chief advantage of the plane is the time-saving element. By tractor or machine it would take about two hours to dust a 10 acre field. By plane it takes 20 minutes.

IN THE OPEN

It was either wash day in the woods, or the timberland merchandisers were staging their annual May day "white" sales. Everywhere I turned a floral display of dazzling white accented the somber background with almost startling vividness.

The showy trillium started the whole thing just as I entered the woods. I had parked by the old mill and had barely reached the edge of the timber when a great drift of these gorgeous flowers snapped to attention by way of greeting. It is hardly plausible to say that they covered whole acres of that wooded hillside, but the effect of those tremendous 'drifts' was that the blooms were everywhere, leading off through the thickets as far as the eye could follow them.

Occasional Pinkish Bloom

An occasional pinkish bloom showed up among the pure white blossoms. This was either an aging flower or a bit of freakish coloring. The trillium panorama had somewhat conditioned me to the shock of dazzling purity in the thickets, but just over the rise I stepped suddenly into a sea of whiteness that was almost breathtaking in its simple beauty.

The overcast had broken during the early afternoon, and as I topped the rise the sun came through to illumine the dogwood cathedral built by the Master Architect on that open slope. I found myself walking humbly through an enchanted world. Each little dogwood tree in the grove strove to outdo its neighbor in the May day festival. No careful housewife ever hung out a bleached wash to rival the dazzling linens on those myriad dogwood clothes lines.

Found Sunny Knoll

I found a sunny knoll in the midst of all this beauty and stretched out to enjoy a quiet woodland interlude. An errant breeze freighted in a load of heady perfume from a nearby thicket of wild crabapple. In an open space below I could see a large station of the wild blue phlox commonly known as Sweet Williams. A crested flycatcher came down through the trees and picked up a few insects in the dogwood grove.

A big red-tailed hawk came snooping down low above the trees just across the swale. He came in close and as he veered in a wide circle I got a good view of the rufous tail which gives him his name. A trio of crows took umbrage as the big buteo soared about and rose to the attack. I had a front-row view of the aerial dogfight from any sun-warmed knoll.

The hawk seemed little perturbed by the slashing dives of his black tormentors, and I noticed that they always pulled up and away before they got in too close to the traditional enemy. When actually in combat the crows use particularly insulting language. They traced that hawk's ancestry with quiet and deadly venom as they "rode" him high in the sky and finally across the horizon.

Others in White Parade

Some other woodland flowers had joined in the white parade. The blooms of the early saxifrage were everywhere on the dry hill-sides and I saw the rue anemone and the little sedum called stone-crop in flower. To add color to the open thickets the wild geranium was putting on quite a show and I saw the yellow star grass, the golden ragwort, cinquefoil and one of the buttercups in the yellow department. The violet wood sorrel was blooming in favored spots and the wild ginger treasured its odd flower close against the ground.

With some reluctance I moved out of the dogwood cathedral and on across the hillside, coming to a halt again on an eminence just across from the remains of a pioneer log home deep in this timberland. I was lazily watching the feathered activity all about when a tiny blue-gray gnatcatcher performed in suspicious manner on a walnut branch hard by one corner of the cabin wreckage.

Foundation For Nest

After the bird had gone elsewhere I moved in to discover that he had been laying the foundation for the nest. When completed this little cup will be almost as beautiful as the humming bird's home. It is made up of plant fibers and bark shreds, held together by cobwebs over a covering of lichens and dried flower petals. Finding this nest was a stroke of pure luck. I'll call back later to pay my respects to the new arrivals.

In working my way back to the old mill by the roadside I followed a course through the heavy timber which brought me out by the rock ledges where the foxes usually conceal their young in hidden dens. So far this year I have seen no trace of Reynard or his vixen in this neighborhood. The old car sputtered and clattered its way along the homeward trail, passing close by a large dam where a soil-lary loon rode low in the water. I stopped and he dove, finally breaking the surface many yards out in safer territory. Later I saw another, probably his mate, far off shore near the breast of this reservoir. Anybody who had seen me "stalking" those birds would have wondered who was the looniest!

Will Make Effort To Side track Bill On Margarine Tax

WASHINGTON, May 6.—(INS)—Sen. Aiken (D-Vt.) said today that dairy state senators will seek to sidetrack the margarine tax repeal bill until long-range farm legislation is enacted.

Aiken announced that he will ask the GOP Policy Committee to block an also fight until the new agriculture policy measure passes.

The Senator was defeated by a 47-30 vote in his effort to have the House-passed bill sent to the Agriculture Committee instead of the Senate Finance Group. The Finance Committee meets today to decide about hearings on the measure.

Aiken said that farm-state senators are afraid that the margarine battle may bring "recommitments that could endanger the long-range

Union High Has Mothers' Banquet

Mothers-Daughters Feled at Annual Dinner—Program Given By Y-Teens Clubs

Mothers and daughters were honored in a most fitting manner, Wednesday evening, at the annual banquet scheduled in Union high school.

Sponsored by the Junior and Senior Y-Teens, the event attracted a crowd of 275, in the auditorium of the school. Gay streamers were used, and lovely bouquets of spring flowers centered tables. Places were marked with rose favors made of crepe paper made by the art class and tiny place cards. Tall pink candles flanked the tables on either side.

P. T. A. Serves Dinner

Served by the men of the P. T. A., a delicious full course dinner was served at 6:30 o'clock. The invocation was given by Katherine Coates.

Mrs. Patricia Brettell ably took charge as toastmistress of the evening. Miss Betty Robison conducted a period of group singing with the assembly participating, with Jean Morgan, pianist. Following, the welcome to mothers was given by Betty Vigne. Miss Joyce Henning gave the toast to mothers; and Mrs. John Henning responded with the toast to daughters.

Several selections were offered at this time by the Union high glee, under the direction of Betty Robison. They sang "Desert Song," "An Old Fashioned Garden" and "April Showers."

During the course of the meal, several vocal selections were also given by Wilma Heckert, with Miss Robison, accompanying.

Speaker Heard

Miss Carol Armstrong, executive secretary of the YWCA of Butler, Pa., as speaker of the evening spoke on "Bells." As a hobby of long-standing, bell collecting has always held a fascination for the speaker. She told in an interesting manner, the history of the bells dating back before the time of Christ, when bell-making was started in China.

The purpose of bells, in olden times was to call people from the fields, and in many lands they were used to frighten evil spirits. Miss Armstrong gave a thumb-nail history of each bell in her collection, many which came from far-off lands including India, Ethiopia, Korea, China, Japan, Italy, Mexico, Belgium, Java, Holland, Russia and Switzerland, to mention a few. Along with other interesting facts about bell, she concluded by relating the many beliefs of the bells, which originated in the different countries, and the legends which surrounds bells of all type.

An electric guitar trio, Ruth Sheeler, Donna Dockman and James Wilson favored with the closing musical selection on the program.

Mothers Honored

Mrs. Charles Krause presided briefly and awarded gifts to the oldest mother, Mrs. G. B. Hart; the youngest mother, Mrs. Irene Branscome; and the mother with most daughters present, Mrs. Beulah Bartlett.

Miss Marguerite White and Mrs. Clark McClelland of the local YWCA were also introduced.

Success for the evening's affair is due to work of the Hi-Y boys in charge of Robert Cowher; and the Junior and Senior Y-Teen girls under the direction of Miss Edie Norris and Mrs. Wilda Krause.

Hospital To Give Pre-Entrance Test

Applicants To Take Tests At New Castle Hospital May 15 At 1 P. M.

Saturday, May 15, has been announced as the date for the administration of the next pre-entrance or nursing ability test to be administered at the New Castle Hospital School of Nursing. Registration for the test will be at 12:30 o'clock and the test will begin promptly at 1 o'clock. Openings are now available in the September 1948 class.

Nursing is a proud profession, famous as a service to humanity, growing fast in opportunities for qualified young women who are high school graduates. It offers a fuller, richer life through the valuable higher education that is obtained in working with skilled professional men and women. Upon graduation from a school of nursing young women will have acquired special knowledge and a deeper understanding of people that will be of inestimable value all through life.

The demand for nurses increases daily and the field of opportunity widens.

In order that you may learn more about the profession and what it offers, interested high school graduates are invited to attend open house Saturday morning from 10 o'clock until noon, enjoy lunch with the student nurses and then take the pre-entrance examination. An opportunity will be given for further information by interview with a member of the faculty. ## BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 2 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 60 years. Doan's gives happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

IN THE OPEN

It was either wash day in the woodlands, or the timberland merchandisers were staging their annual May day "white" sales. Everywhere I turned a floral display of dazzling white accented the somber background with almost startling vividness.

The showy trillium started the whole thing just as I entered the woods. I had parked by the old mill and had barely reached the edge of the timber when a great drift of these gorgeous flowers snapped to attention by way of greeting. It is hardly plausible to say that they covered white acres of that wooded hillside, but the effect of those tremendous "drifts" was that the blooms were everywhere, leading off through the thickets as far as the eye could follow them.

Occasional Pinkish Bloom
An occasional pinkish bloom showed up among the pure white blossoms. This was either an aging flower or a bit of freakish coloring. The trillium panorama had somewhat conditioned me to the shock of dazzling purity in the thickets, but just over the rise I stepped suddenly into a sea of whiteness that was almost breathtaking in its simple beauty.

The overcast had broken during the early afternoon, and as I topped the rise the sun came through to illumine the dogwood cathedral built by the Master Architect on that open slope. I found myself walking humbly through an enchanted world. Each little dogwood tree in the grove strove to outdo its neighbor in the May day festival. No careful housewife ever hung out a bleached wash to rival the dazzling lines on those myriad dogwood clothes lines.

Found Sunny Knoll
I found a sunny knoll in the midst of all this beauty and stretched out to enjoy a quiet woodland interlude. An errant breeze freighted in a load of heady perfume from a nearby thicket of wild crabapple. In an open swale below I could see a large station of the wild blue phlox commonly known as Sweet Williams. A crested flycatcher came down through the trees and picked up a few insects in the dogwood grove.

A big red-tailed hawk came swooping down low above the trees just across the swale. He came in close and as he veered in a wide circle I got a good view of the rufous tail which gives him his name. A trio of crows took umbrage as the big buteo soared about and rose to the attack. I had a front-row view of the aerial dogfight from any sun-warmed knoll.

The hawk seemed little perturbed by the slashing dives of his black tormentors, and I noticed that they always pulled up and away before they got in too close to the traditional enemy. When actually in combat the crows use particularly insulting language. They traced that hawk's ancestry with quiet and deadly venom as they "rode" him high in the sky and finally across the horizon.

Others in White Parade
Some other woodland flowers had joined in the white parade. The blooms of the early saxifrage were everywhere on the dry hillside and I saw the rue anemone and the little sedum called stonecrop in flower. To add color to the open thickets the wild geranium was putting on quite a show and I saw the yellow star grass, the golden ragwort, cinquefoil and one of the buttercups in the yellow department. The violet wood sorrel was blooming in favored spots and the wild ginger treasured its odd flower close against the ground.

With some reluctance I moved out of the dogwood cathedral and on across the hillside, coming to a halt again on an eminence just across from the remains of a pioneer log home deep in this timberland. I was lazily watching the feathered activity all about when a tiny blue-gray grackle perched in suspicious manner on a walnut branch hard by one corner of the cabin wreckage.

Foundation For Nest
After the bird had gone elsewhere I moved in to discover that he had been laying the foundation for the nest. When completed this little cup will be almost as beautiful as the humming bird's home. It is made up of plant fibers and bark shreds, held together by cobwebs over a covering of lichens and dried flower petals. Finding this nest was a stroke of pure luck. I call back later to pay my respects to the new arrivals.

In working my way back to the old mill by the roadside I followed a course through the heavy timber which brought me out by the creek ledges where the foxes usually conceal their young in hidden dens. So far this year I have seen no trace of Reynard or his vixen in this neighborhood. The old car spluttered and clattered its way along the homeward trail, passing close by a large dam where a solitary loon rode low in the water. I stopped and he dove, finally breaking the surface many yards out in safer territory. Later I saw another, probably his mate, far off shore near the breast of this reservoir. Anybody who had seen me "stalking" those birds would have wondered who was the looniest!

SASSY FRASS.
Helium, a gas widely used in air ships, was first discovered in spectroscopic studies of the sun.

Great New Air Base Is Built In North Japan

U. S. Completing Work on Base After 30 Months of Construction Work

MISAWA, Japan, May 6.—(INS)—A great new air base, from which fully laden heavy bombers can be launched over any part of eastern Europe as well as Asia, is being rushed to completion in northern Japan by the U. S. Air Force.

The $9,000,000 project is located at Misawa in upper Honshu, Japan's main island.

It is expected to be completed by Dec. 15 after nearly 30 months of intensive construction work.

A principal feature of the huge base is an 8,500-foot runway capable of accommodating America's giant B-36 bombers.

Strategic considerations impelled the air force command to decide on locating the new airfield in northern Honshu, rather than on Japan's northernmost island of Hokkaido which is contiguous to the Soviet-held Kurile Archipelago.

Misawa is an hour's flying time farther from the Kuriles than the U. S. Air Force base at Chitose on Hokkaido.

The Misawa center will be the largest air base in all Japan. It will include extensive barracks, communication lines and other facilities capable of serving a personnel of 70,000.

MILLBURN

Fire destroyed the farm home and the milk house belonging to Paul Munnell with all the contents on Sunday. The family with the exception of F. R. Munnell were away. Mr. Munnell was in the barn and was made aware of the fire when a neighbor seeing the smoke and fearing the family had been trapped inside broke a window. The house was filled with smoke and broke into flame. It was so far advanced that the fire department was not called but neighbors kept the flames from spreading to other buildings. The cause of the fire is undetermined.

Millburn Grange enjoyed its annual "fish dinner" on Monday evening. Jared Winger with the help of several of the grange men was responsible for the delicious fish and the ladies added turkeys to make a bountiful dinner. About 60 were present. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Munnell were honor guests and were presented with boudoir lamps by the grange. Cards, dancing and a social time combined to make the evening a pleasant one for young and old.

Miss Clara Metzger, Mrs. John Woods and Mrs. J. P. Hart attended the quarterly meeting of Pomona Grange at West Salem on Saturday.

LeRoy Woods son of Mr. and Mrs. Clair Woods and David Armstrong, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Armstrong are recovering from the measles.

Millburn grange will meet in their hall at 8:30 p. m. on Thursday evening, May 13.

Mr. and Mrs. George Milan have sold their home to Howard Varian and will give possession the last of the month. They expect to make their home temporarily in New Castle.

Mr. and Mrs. William Wagner of Youngstown and Rev. Henry and Rev. Fox of Mercer called in the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Anderson during the week.

O. D. Anderson made a business trip to Columbus, O. during the week end. Mrs. Anderson and the children visited her parents in Cool Spring on Sunday.

Miss Winnie Shaffer and John Lukacs of Westminster College were Sunday dinner guests of the latter's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Bunce of Cooperstown and Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Blumenshine of Youngstown, were Saturday guests of Mrs. Emma Bougher.

Edmund Bishop and son and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wall of Pittsburgh spent the week end at their summer home.

Union High Has Mothers' Banquet

Mothers-Daughters Feted at Annual Dinner—Program Given by Y-Teens Clubs

Mothers and daughters were honored in a most fitting manner, Wednesday evening, at the annual banquet scheduled in Union High School.

Sponsored by the Junior and Senior Y-Teens, the event attracted a crowd of 275, in the auditorium of the school. Gay streamers were used, and lovely bouquets of spring flowers centered tables. Places were marked with rose favors made of crepe paper made by the art class and tiny place cards. Tall pink candles flanked the tables on either side.

P. T. A. Serves Dinner

Served by the men of the P. T. A., a delicious full course dinner was served at 6:30 o'clock. The invocation was given by Katherine Costes.

Mrs. Patricia Bretell ably took charge as toastmistress of the evening. Miss Betty Robinson conducted a period of group singing with the assembly participating. With Jean Morgan, pianist. Following, the welcome to mothers was given by Betty Vigne. Miss Joyce Henning gave the toast to mothers; and Mrs. John Henning responded with the toast to daughters.

Several selections were offered at this time by the Union High School, under the direction of Betty Robinson. They sang "Desert Song," "An Old Fashioned Garden," and "April Showers."

During the course of the meal, several vocal selections were also given by Wilma Hockett, with Miss Robinson, accompanying.

Speaker Heard

Miss Carol Armstrong, executive secretary of the YWCA of Butler, Pa., as speaker of the evening spoke on "Bells." As a hobby of long-standing, bell collecting has always held a fascination for the speaker. She told in an interesting manner, the history of the bells dating back before the time of Christ, when bell-making was started in China.

The purpose of bells, in olden times was to call people from the fields, and in many lands they were used to frighten evil spirits. Miss Armstrong gave a thumbnail history of each bell in her collection, many which came from far-off lands including India, Ethiopia, Korea, China, Japan, Italy, Mexico, Belgium, Java, Holland, Russia and Switzerland, to mention a few. Along with other interesting facts about bells, she concluded by relating the many beliefs of the bells, which originated in the different countries, and the legends which surround bells of all type. An electric guitar trio, Ruth Shleeter, Doune Dockman and James Wilson favored with the closing musical selection on the program.

Mothers Honored

Mrs. Charles Krause presided briefly and awarded gifts to the oldest mother, Mrs. G. B. Hart; the youngest mother, Mrs. Irene Braum; and the mother with most daughters present, Mrs. Beulah Bartlett.

Miss Marguerite White and Mrs. Clark McClelland of the local YWCA were also introduced. Success for the evening's affair is due to work of the Y-Teen boys in charge of Robert Cowher; and the Junior and Senior Y-Teen girls under the direction of Miss Edice Norris and Mrs. Wilda Krause.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 10 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start causing backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, a swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty urination with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is some thing wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't wait! Ask your doctor for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 60 years. Doan's gives happy relief and will help the 10 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Hospital To Give Pre-Entrance Test

Applicants To Take Tests At New Castle Hospital May 15 At 1 P. M.

Saturday, May 15, has been announced as the date for the administration of the next pre-entrance or nursing ability test to be administered at the New Castle Hospital School of Nursing. Registration for the test will be at 12:30 o'clock and the test will begin promptly at 1 o'clock. Openings are now available in the September 1948 class. Nursing is a proud profession, famous as a service to humanity, growing fast in opportunities for qualified young women who are high school graduates. It offers a fuller, richer life through the valuable higher education that is obtained in working with skilled professional men and women. Upon graduation from a school of nursing young women will have acquired special knowledge and a deeper understanding of people that will be of inestimable value all through life. The demand for nurses increases daily and the field of opportunity widens.

In order that you may learn more about the profession and what it offers, interested high school graduates are invited to attend open house Saturday morning from 10 o'clock until noon, enjoy lunch with the student nurses and then take the pre-entrance examination. An opportunity will be given for further information by interview with a member of the faculty. If you have not applied up to this time make application now by writing or telephoning the Director of Nurses, New Castle Hospital School of Nursing.

The New HOME PERMANENT SET

Bu-Tee-Wave

MACHINELESS HEAT METHOD

Bu-Tee-Wave is entirely different from any other home permanent wave set. It is not a cold wave. With Bu-Tee-Wave you use the same kind of genuine beauty operator's equipment and supplies that are used by beauticians in giving machineless heat permanents.

For Glamorous Hair
FOLLOW THESE 4 EASY STEPS:
1 Pull strand of hair through Rubber-Fit.
2 Place Spacer on top of Rubber-Fit and Close.
3 Wet strand of hair with solution, roll on Aluminum Rod, turn handle as tight as you wish curls to be.
4 Place Heat Pad over end, snap on Patch Clip.

Just for Children Also

With Bu-Tee-Wave there's no mess, no soaking your head for hours and no neutralizing.

BU-TEE-WAVE SOLUTION is scientifically blended for fine, medium or coarse hair. It contains Lanolin and other fine oils to help keep your hair soft and natural looking.

THE HEAT UNITS create just enough heat to gently steam soft, lasting waves into your hair that will give you months of "Permanent" satisfaction.

ONLY 24 CURLS ARE ALL THAT ARE REQUIRED for a complete permanent with Bu-Tee-Wave. You make 6 curls at a time in a little over 30 minutes but they are complete and require no neutralizing. They are ready to be combed into gorgeous, natural waves.

FOR YOUR "NEW LOOK" HANG ON you can have short, medium or full length curls. You can select any hair style that you desire with Bu-Tee-Wave.

complete set — See coupon
6 Spacers, 4 Aluminum Curled Rods, 4 Rubber-Fits, 4 Rubber-Handled Clips, 24 Heat Pads, 24 Patch Pads, and Bu-Tee-Wave Solution for one complete permanent.

Butler Yanks Provide First Test Of Season

Another 24 hours and New Castle will be officially launched into the Middle-Atlantic baseball league, for the first time.

The Butler Yanks will be here Friday night to help The Chiefs in the loop inaugural at P. J. Flaherty field. Game time is 8:30 o'clock. The opening night ceremonies will start at 8:15 o'clock.

Elmer Daily, president of the Mid-Atlantic circuit will be present to officially welcome the city into the league. He will speak over the public address system to the fans and players, just prior to the cry of "Play Ball," and the toss of the first ball by Mayor John Haven.

Have Fine Team

The start of the 126-game league card, finds the New Castle club, with a fine pitching staff, a solid infield and a hard-hitting outfield. Sixty-three home games are listed for Flaherty Field. Monday through Saturday will find the Chiefs playing night ball, and the Sunday games start at 3 o'clock.

We have tried to give New Castle the best team that we could obtain, and we are confident of a first division berth all year, with the possibility of winning that old flag, General Manager George Smith declared.

"The owner John Gabri of Massena, N. Y., has spared no expense in bringing to New Castle the finest possible team, the rubber-band has been off the bankroll, so to speak," Smith said.

Great Pitching Staff

The Chiefs are starting the season with a great hurling staff, one that is far better than the Niagara Falls team had last year when they finished second in the league.

Four of the present Chiefs were on the 1947 Niagara Falls team—Jack Booth, first sacker; Jimmy Muldoon, second baseman; Hugh Grimshaw, pitcher, and Felix Buccioni, a pitcher.

The Chiefs have fortified themselves with several outstanding Canadian stars this year—Roy "Stubby" Maud, third sacker from Smith's Falls, Ontario; Wally Hill, of Granby, Canada; Roger "Frenchy" Vallancourt, of Montreal; and Walter Kitchen, an outfielder, of Toronto.

Hustling Ball Club

Other new stars obtained this year are—Bill Zuraw, pitcher, who was with Watertown last year, a 13 game winner; Louis Busco, a

Victory Club, Edenburg Take League Openers

Tigers Nip Ellwood Vets, 5-3; Wampum Knocks Off Bessemer, 5 to 1

Four of the County league clubs managed to launch the 1948 season last night, the Edenburg Tigers defeating the Ellwood Vets, 5-3, and the Wampum Victory club upending their old rivals, Bessemer, 5-1.

The Tigers got a brace of tallies in the first frame and added three in the fifth. All Ellwood's runs came in the seventh inning. B. Olive was the winning hurler, with Campbell the loser.

At Wampum the chucking of Don Kosior was the shining light as the young hurler set down the Cementers on three hits. His opponent was Jimmy Martin, who was nicked for seven.

The Wampum-Bessemer game was played under protest by Cementer manager "Jim" Martin, based on violation of a ground rule.

Ronnie Straw Down But Not Out

Joie Vitale, New Castle boxer, scores a knockdown over Ronnie Straw of Ellwood City in the first round of their three-beat bout last night in The Arena.

Straw bounced back up without taking a count but Vitale went on to stop the decision. Both fighters were in the 135-pound class.

Red Sox Climbing Up; Pirates Take Another

By LOU GARAVENTE

NEW YORK, May 6.—(INS)—Two members of the Boston Red Sox were responsible today for a new baseball battle-cri—“The Red Sox are coming!”

The twins are shortstop Vernon Stephens, and pitcher, Ellis Kinder, principals in an off-season package deal with the St. Louis Browns which involved five players and approximately $200,000.

Stephens, a right-handed pull-hitter blasted a game winning home run off relief pitcher Dizzy Trout in the 11th inning to defeat the Detroit Tigers 4 to 3. And Kinder hitherto relegated to the bullpen contingent, hurled one-hit ball over the last three innings.

The extra-inning triumph stretched the Red Sox streak to four successive wins and made it two in a row over the Tigers who dropped to seventh place.

Boston, off to a bad start with three consecutive defeats at the hands of the Philadelphia Athletics, seemingly has straightened out and is ready to drive to the top.

Another “winter reinforcement,” Stan Spence—ex-Washington-Senator—also was outstanding for Yawkey's Raiders. With two out in the ninth, Spence drilled a single to center to score Stephens with the tying run.

Kinder lost his stuff momentarily in the 10th and loaded the bases. Felix Mierkiewicz struck out, and then Ted Williams rifled a perfect peg to the plate to “double” Johnny Ligon trying to score on Hoot Evers’ fly to left.

In the National League, the Pitts-

Bob Baker Wins From Bob Golden

Out Costs Parrella Fight; Leasure, Vitale And Conti Cop Bouts

Bob Baker, Golden Glove champion of Pittsburgh, defeated Bob Golden, Akron's Golden Glove champion, in a fast three round amateur heavyweight battle last night in The Arena. He won all three rounds. Baker forced the fighting, landed the heaviest punches and out-boxed Golden who fought a defensive fight.

They started fast, but in the middle of the round Baker landed a hard right and left to Golden's head, and the Akron boxer pedaled backward until the end of the second stanza.

Golden's punches, fired as he retreated, lacked the zip that Baker's contained, and he did not land nearly as often as Baker, but in the third Golden opened up a little.

However, a right to the jaw stemmed Golden's attack, whose last effort for victory was a left hook, started for the head, which missed. Golden returned to his retreating style and Baker piled up points, and won.

Jim Gillespie of Akron, was outwitted by Howie Thornton of Pittsburgh in a three round, good semi-final light-heavyweight bout. Gillespie won a split decision. Gillespie's last round showing probably influenced the officials.

Johnny Parrella, light-heavyweight, New Castle, was winning his bout from Augie Martinez, Youngstown, when a punch caused a laceration above Johnny's eye in the second, and Referee Sam Leyshock stopped the fight.

Parrella looked good in his first pugilistic debut, and he had the better of the fighting up to the time the unlucky punch landed. It happened 1:15 in the second round.

Al Leasure Wins

Al Leasure, New Castle, won a TKO in the second round over Ray Trool, Youngstown, at 147. They were fighting a pleasing bout until one of Al's blows caused a severe laceration to Trool's nostril.

Floyd Black, Pittsburgh, won a split decision over Eddie Brennan, Akron, at 135. It was a good fight. The judges split on the decision and the verdict of the referee went to Black, giving him the fight.

Jimmy Quinn, Youngstown, won all three votes, in his fight with Mike Gsondi, Ellwood City. It was a good fight, at 128 pounds. Jimmy proved too good a boxer for the slugging Gsondi.

Joie Vitale, New Castle, dropped Ronnie Straw, Ellwood, at 135, in the first round. Straw got up without a count. Vitale fought from a crouch, forced the fighting, and won a slugging duel, taking all three votes.

Walter Conti, New Castle, and Russ Carey, Pittsburgh, fought a slugfest for three rounds, at 122 pounds. There was action throughout the bout. Conti was given the decision.

The Jefferson A. C. staged the show which was before a small crowd. Sam and Ray Leyshock, alternated as referees and judge with Nick Adamo as the other judge. Bill Fazzone kept time and Charles Walthers announced.

RYANTOWN VS SOUTH HILLS

Ryantown baseball team will go to the South Hills field Friday at 6 o'clock for an exhibition game with the South Hills team. It was announced by Business Manager Andrew Cline. These are city league teams.

Great New Air Base Is Built In North Japan

U. S. Completing Work on Base After 30 Months of Construction Work

MISAWA, Japan, May 6.—(INS)—A great new air base, from which fully laden heavy bombers can be launched over any part of eastern Europe as well as Asia, is being rushed to completion in northern Japan by the U. S. Air Force.

The $9,000,000 project is located at Misawa in upper Honshu, Japan's main island.

It is expected to be completed by Dec. 15 after nearly 30 months of intensive construction work.

A principal feature of the huge base is an 8,500-foot runway capable of accommodating America's giant B-36 bombers.

Strategic considerations impelled the air force command to decide on locating the new airfield in northern Honshu, rather than on Japan's northernmost island of Hokkaido which is contiguous to the Soviet-held Kurile Archipelago.

Misawa is an hour's flying time farther from the Kuriles than the U. S. Air Force base at Chitose on Hokkaido.

The Misawa center will be the largest air base in all Japan. It will include extensive barracks, communication lines and other facilities capable of serving a personnel of 70,000.

MILLBURN

Fire destroyed the farm home and the milk house belonging to Paul Munnell with all the contents on Sunday. The family with the exception of F. H. Munnell were away. Mr. Munnell was in the barn and was made aware of the fire when a neighbor seeing the smoke and fearing the family had been trapped inside broke a window. The house was filled with smoke and broke into flame. It was so far advanced that the fire department was not called but neighbors kept the flames from spreading to other buildings. The cause of the fire is undetermined.

Millburn Grange enjoyed its annual "fish dinner" on Monday evening. Javed Winger with the help of several of the grange men was responsible for the delicious fish and the ladies added turkeys to make a bountiful dinner. About 60 were present. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Munnell were honor guests and were presented with bouquets and a special time combined to make the evening a pleasant one for young and old.

Mrs. Clara Metzger, Mrs. John Woods and Mrs. J. P. Hartt attended the quarterly meeting of Pomona Grange at West Salem on Saturday.

Lefty Woods son of Mr. and Mrs. Clair Woods and David Armstrong, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Armstrong, are recovering from the measles.

Millburn grange will meet in their hall at 8:30 p. m. on Thursday evening, May 13.

Mr. and Mrs. George Milan have sold their home to Howard Varian and will give possession the last of the month. They expect to make their home temporarily in New Castle.

Mr. and Mrs. William Wagner of Youngstown and Rev. Henry and Rev. Fox of Merer called in the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Anderson during the week.

O. D. Anderson made a business trip to Columbus, O. during the week end. Mrs. Anderson and the children visited her parents in Coul Spring on Sunday.

Miss Winnie Shaffer and John Lukacs of Westminster College were Sunday dinner guests of the latter's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Bunce of Cooperstown and Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Blumenshine of Youngstown, were Saturday guests of Mrs. Emma Hougher.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

SEVERAL days ago there was printed in Here & There a report by Dick Frances (not Williams) of the Wallace block, how to tell the sex of a worm. No sooner had the story been published than another reader flashed at Here & There, a text-book in general zoology, written by Linville and Kelly which is a copyright work. It says the earthworm has no eyes, yet it knows of the existence of light, and shuns intense light; it has no ears, but it becomes aware of the approach of an enemy by the jaw communicated through the soil. In the mature earthworm, a thick band, consisting of the thickened body-wall, is visible at about one-third the length of the animal from the anterior end. Food, consisting of particles of leaves, animal tissues, and even soil, is drawn from the mouth into the pharynx by the sucking action which takes place when the cavity of the pharynx is enlarged and it passes through the esophagus. Earthworms are known to swallow rough pebbles, and even sharp pieces of glass for the purpose of using them in the gizzard to grind into other particles which are swallowed as food. The process of digestion begins, when, on seizing food with its lip, the animal pours out a secretion from glands in the pharynx, which is located next to its mouth. An earthworm is a hermaphrodite, and although each earthworm produces spermatozoa and eggs, the eggs of one individual are always fertilized by the spermatozoa of another. The breeding season extends through the greater portion of the year. Dick said that the male worm has a pointed head and the female has a band around its body.

Williams Whips Mexican Fighter, Arch Moore Wins

OAKLAND, Cal., May 6.—(INS)—World's lightweight champion The Williams of Trenton, N. J., easily won an unanimous 10-round decision over Rudy Cruz, Los Angeles Mexican, in a non-title bout in Oakland auditorium last night. The overweight match belonged to the New Jersey Negro puncher all the way. The referee and judges awarded him every round as he gave the 22-year-old Cruz a nifty boxing lesson.

Cincinnati, May 6.—(INS)—Arch Moore of St. Louis, fourth ranking light-heavyweight boxer, won a unanimous decision over Billy Smith of Oakland, Cal., in a ten-round bout last night in Cincinnati's Music Hall.

Moore floored Smith twice, knocking him out of the ring in the third round.

Dillard Proves His Speed Again

CLEVELAND, May 6.—(INS)—Harrison Dillard not only is good, he is consistently good. The fleet Baldwin-Wallace speedster chalked up three wins yesterday, including a world's record-tying time of 22.5 seconds in the low hurdles, as the Yellow Jackets overwhelmed Ohio Wesleyan, 89-38, at the suburban Berea oval.

Hurryin' Harrison now has 61 straight victories and is within striking distance of Greg Rice's 65-straight record.

Besides tying Fred Wolcott's world's mark for the third time, Dillard romped to easy wins in the 120-yard high hurdles and the 100-yard dash.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

SEVERAL days ago there was printed in Here & There a report by Dick Francis (not Williams) of the Wallace block, how to tell the sex of a worm. No sooner had the story been published than another reader flashed at Here & There, a text-book in general zoology, written by Linville and Kelly which is a copyright work. It says the earthworm has no eyes, yet it knows of the existence of light, and shuns intense light; it has no ears, but it becomes aware of the approach of an enemy by the law communicating through the soil. In the mature earthworm, a thick band, consisting of the thickened wall, is visible at about one-third the length of the animal from the anterior end. Food, consisting of particles of leaves, animal tissues, and even soil, is drawn from the mouth into the pharynx by the sucking action which takes place when the cavity of the pharynx is enlarged and it passes through the esophagus. Earthworms are known to swallow rough pebbles, and even sharp pieces of glass for the purpose of using them in the gizzard to grind into other particles which are swallowed as food. The process of digestion begins, when, on seizing food with its lip, the animal pours out a secretion from glands in the pharynx, which is located next to its mouth. An earthworm is a hermaphrodite, and although each earthworm produces spermatozoa and eggs, the egg of one individual are always fertilized by the spermatozoa of another. The breeding season extends through the greater portion of the year. Dick said that the male worm has a pointed head and the female has a band around its body.

Williams Whips Mexican Fighter, Arch Moore Wins

OAKLAND, Cal., May 6.—(INS)—World's lightweight champion Ike Williams of Trenton, N. J., easily won an unanimous 10-round decision over Ruffy Cruz, Los Angeles Mexican, in a non-title bout in Oakland auditorium last night. The overweigh match belonged to the New Jersey Negro puncher all the way. The referee and judges awarded him every round as he gave the 22-year-old Cruz a nifty boxing lesson.

Dillard Proves His Speed Again

CLEVELAND, May 6.—(INS)—Harrison Dillard not only is good, he is consistently good. The fleet Baldwin-Wallace speedster chalked up three wins yesterday, including a world's record-tying time of 22.5 seconds in the low hurdles, as the Yellow Jackets overwhelmed Ohio Wesleyan, 89-38, at the suburban Berea oval.

Hurryin' Harrison now has 61 straight victories and is within striking distance of Greg Rice's 65-straight record.

Besides being Fred Wolcott's world's mark for the third time, Dillard romped to easy wins in the 120-yard high hurdles and the 100-yard dash.
